CLOSER LOOK: A stone cold closer, he should benefit by the sharp pace that is projected in this event; reverts to Talamo who was aboard for that heartbreaker 3 races back and should be flying at the finish today if all pure speeds remain in attendance and do battle; worth some backing.

Makes his belated 2013 debut but has a perfect in-the-money record at this course to consider; note effort here nearly a year ago to the day when losing a virtual match race with Basmati; shows some nice workouts of late but still faces instant pace pressure from that key rival.

He is up against it today since he has no experience over the course or at the distance; shows only moderate workout activity during the last month and seems out of his element; cannot recommend as a major player now.

No match for Wild Dude in September but the early fractions of that event were intense; should appreciate the return to seven furlongs and may middle move with effectiveness at a healthy price; could prove to be the correct value play.

CLOSER LOOK: His best races have been when he's been able to get involved early and he was taken out of his game in the Grade 1 Del Mar Futurity when he hit the gate at the start; he finished full of run and would have been right there if he didn't have to steady late; he could make a not of noise if he leaves there running; contender.

 Undeafated in three starts in Northern Cal and he was very impressive winning the one-mile Charlie Palmer Futurity so we know he can go this far; this is obviously a much-tougher spot but both of his siblings are stakes-pace and earned over $100K so there could be plenty of upside potential here; it is also encouraging to see Rosario accept the call; playable.

 He broke okay but didn't show his good speed in a two-turn sprint in Pomona and like a lot of horses he had a bit of trouble handling the first turn; he almost took them the whole way in the I'm Smokin but he is going to have other speed to deal with here; dam won going this distance on turf; only sib to win won going short; prefer others.

This seems like a tough spot for a horse that broke his maiden for $32K at Pomona and he didn't make an impact when he tried $40K starter horses in his only start at this track; both sibs are winners the best being $153K stakes placed Distant Image who won going long on turf; passing

He improved quite a bit in his first start on dirt but the 57 Beyer Speed Figure he earned for his win over $50K Cal-bred maidens isn't going to scare anyone; he did run like he'll appreciate the added distance, though; and one of his three sibs, all winners, won going long; nonetheless, others look more attractive.

He looked good winning the Del Mar Futurity and then was left with too much to do when he got away poorly in the Grade 1 Front Runner in his first try going around two turns; expect him to move forward with the experience behind him and there should be an honest enough pace to set him up; three sibs, two stakes winners and the other is stakes placed; the pick.

Like the way he improved substantially when he went this far in his second start and he is certainly eligible to take another step forward in his second route attempt; his dam won a couple of races and earned $32K; both sibs are winners the best being $67K sprint winner Depth; maybe for the exotics but that's about it.

He beat Tamarando going 5 1/2 furlongs at Del Mar but he's regressed since then while Tamarando has improved substantially; blinkers went on when he stretched out for the first time in the Front Runner and surprisingly he didn't show his usual speed; he also drew a tough spot so we're going to pass.-Randy Gouling

Away since the career-low Beyer facing this same group; the workout for this is not very enticing; her 3-back SR dirt race was a good one when rallying well; sire went 0-for-1 in dirt routes; dam was unraced; would be a complete surprise.

CLOSER LOOK: G1 SW turfer draws the fence for the stretchout and surface switch after failing to offer enough late in either of his last 2 grass tries at the G2 level; though he's bred to love the footing, he's yet to run on dirt and off what he's shown of late it doesn't appear as if he'll be a true stayer at this level; gelding hasn't won a race in nearly 15 months and looks to be in tough in this spot.

Six year old hasn't been the same runner who got up for a solid third place finish behind a couple of good ones in Saratoga's G1 Woodward 14 months ago and he enters his local debut off a optional claiming sprint score in New York; he led in midstretch of this heat's renewal a couple of years back, but didn't have enough late and finished fifth; maybe the new blinkers agree with him and his most recent effort is a sign that he's rounding back into form for a barn that does great work with claimers, but this is a huge step up the class ladder while doubling the distance he tackled in that last one; demanding task ahead of him.

Speedy Canadian invader enters this off a gate to wire score in an 11 panel G3 event North of the border in which he was able to control things through moderate splits; he wasn't able to offer much in this heat's renewal last year, but he did break from an outside slot in that one and wasn't really able to strut his stuff; he draws inside the other speed here so he'll likely be able to make the top and will try to take them as far as he can go.

South American import makes his first start in over 4 months while starting for the first time outside his native Argentina; gray does own some long route scores and he worked well over the local main track earlier in the month, but the type of competition he was facing down there figures to pale in comparison to what he'll catch in here.

Took a good step forward in beating much cheaper on the turn back to a mile when shades were added at Parx last month; gelding will have an extra 6 furlongs to deal with here and though the track was wet that day, he didn't seriously threaten a couple of these at a shorter trip 2 starts back; he is working well for the step back up to face this type but he'll need to find more late to prove a legitimate factor in the outcome.

His connections got a nice prep for this into him from the Laurel fence last time as he was able to take way back early and reserve his energy for later in that flat mile heat; gelding earned a nice number in the 12 panel stake 2 back at Parx which certainly gave the impressive that this guy can stay a marathon trip and he certainly has been a new runner since taken over by this outfit in the spring; he'll carry a tougher impost today but in his current form he looks to be a solid contender.

European import makes his first start since the summer while trying both dirt and older rivals for the initial time in his stateside debut; New York bred has shown early foot in his turf marathons overseas so expect he'll again be forwardly placed here and his numbers suggest that he was certainly on the improve before being given time off, but he'll face his toughest test yet here.

Four year old was used in pace and finished off the board at odds on while prepping for this on the upstate fair circuit a few weeks back; he's got early foot and one of his better efforts this year did come at a 12 panel trip at Del Mar so the stretch back out could help; colt draws outside some of the other speed in the heat which should allow him to secure a spot within tracking range of them in here; he's been off the board just once in 7 career spins over the local main track and may prove to be the one to beat.

After competing in this event's showcase heat last year this 8 year old will tackle a softer spot this time; he's been off his game significantly since the near miss in Gulfstream's G3 Hal's Hope to begin the year and did come up short late in the 12 panel stake back East a couple of months ago so don't know that he's going to move forward all that much at this longer trip; he is a G1 winner with a score at today's distance and he did chase a pretty good one last time, but in his current form it's tough to see him getting a piece of this one.

Makes his first start over the local main track while coming off a career best Beyer effort behind last year's Breeders Cup Classic winner; he enters this in pretty good form but he's settled for a lot of minor awards and it's been a long time since he's seen the winner's circle; as it is for most of these, the trip is a concern, but he's worth considering as an exotics use. -Steve Grabowski

CLOSER LOOK: He has plenty of turf in his pedigree, but his best effort was in his latest start over the synthetic surface at Keeneland, and he finished behind three of today's rivals in that race; he's really going to need to step it up over what he's shown in his two turf attempts if he's to contend.

 His only loss from three starts racing in Ireland was in a G1 and the winner of that race, Toomore, earned a 121 Racing Post Rating for that effort and is unbeaten from three starts; 675k purchase is by a top turf sire in War Front, and he appears to be a very talented performer; note that Morre piloted Wilshire Boulevard in his last two starts.

This is an outfit that primarily races in Texas and Louisiana, and have to give them credit for shipping this colt west in early October to record a stakes placing; that said, he did benefit from a favorable early pace scenario that day, and he finds himself facing a much tougher assignment this time around; respect the presence of the hot-riding Stevens, but going to look toward others.

He's run well against strong competition racing overseas and the winner of his latest start is a very talented looking son of War Front from the barn of Aiden O'Brien; the next time he runs a bad race will be the first time, and viewing him as being one of the more serious looking imports; this is the first foal out of Asi Siempre who was a G1 winner while winning 7 of 21 starts for 953k, including 3 of 8 North American turf starts for 264k.

 He was backed like a good thing in his career debut, and even though he wasn't able to get the job done that day, he's followed that race up with a couple of very strong winning performances, and he was particularly impressive in earning a G3 score at Belmont Park in his latest outing; Ramsey-owned colt hails from one of the top turf barns in America and Castellano is back aboard.

 Don't like to be too critical of a lightly raced horse after a winning turf debut, but this Cal-bred gelding did benefit from an ideal setup and a terrific ride by Nakatani in getting the job done in his latest outing; on the positive side, that was still an encouraging performance for his first turf start, and his first start with Lasix, and he still has every reason to have his best races in front of him.

 He surprised a field in the Calder Dash two races ago, and a lot of the credit for that win goes to Rios who gave this colt a fine ride that day, and he followed that performance up with a strong third-place finish in a G3 at Keeneland; note that he chased a couple of today's rivals to the finish at Kee in his latest outing, and that was a really nice effort when considering that it was his first start routing; it doesn't hurt him to have Rosario at the controls.

Judging from his Racing Post Rating's, he's been getting better and better with each passing start, and he's a 1/2 to G1 winner overseas, Zoffany (5-13, 523k); perhaps his only performance that might be rated less than good was the one time he tried blinkers; he has the look of another strong contender signed on for the O'Brien barn.

Obviously he's going to need to dial it up along the Beyer Speed Figure scale to prove to be the one in this spot, but he was a strong runner-up finisher in his one turf attempt behind a promising looking turfer in Diamond Bachelor; like the idea of him giving turf another try, but have to wonder if this just isn't a little too tough for him at this point in time.

Along with Bobby's Kitten, he looks like one of the stronger American options to consider in here, and all three of his races are worth watching before making any final decisions on him; despite finishing fourth in his career debut, he was dragging his rider to the finish, and he was very green when producing a big late run to get the job done at second asking; in his latest start at Keeneland, a race that saw him beat a few of today's rivals, he didn't just get up, he rolled past the leaders through the final 16th.

Have to be at least mildly concerned when seeing that he's making his first start beyond six furlongs today, but he ran to his backing with a couple of sharp winning performances to begin his career, and even though he was a beaten favorite in a G2 in his latest start, he was sent to post as the favorite.

He hasn't run a bad race to date and he was at his best in his most recent turf start in winning a G2 event at Saratoga two starts back; in his latest outing, a troubled run over the synthetic surface at Keeneland, Velazquez had to stand up in the irons around the first turn before being forced wide approaching the stretch; he clearly commands a good deal of respect, even with an outside post in play. -Brian Pochman

CLOSER LOOK: Personal best Beyer was achieved at a mile two races back when a game second to Pants On Fire but that was around one-turn; the grey has extensive two-turn experience but none at the G1 level; although the latest workout at his Churchill headquarters was superior, he may have a difficult time earning the top award here.

Exits an extremely useful comeback race, his first over this course, where he launched a strong bid approaching the stretch only to fade in the last furlong; prefers distances longer than this, however, and needs a perfectly timed middle move; has scored under 126 pounds before when earning a split-decision with Alpha in last year's G1 Travers.

A consistent performer regardless of the distance or surface, he made 2 moves in defeat in the G2 Kelso at Belmont and was finishing strong at the end; that was his initial try with blinkers, an important educational run; that addition should enable him to get into the race sooner, an important weapon here.

The selection; an outstanding performer in South America early in his career, he has slowly but surely matured since arriving to the U.S.A. yet may fly under the betting radar today; he was particular impressive when narrowly losing a sprint against 7-furlong specialists at Parx; thereafter, he received a confidence builder at Delaware before turning in a brave performance behind Graydar, who would have likely been the favorite in today's affair.

Do not use his failure in the G1 Metropolitan as a barometer; he is a proven miler with a strong local slate; more intriguing is the workout regimen during the break (his latest a.m. move at five-eighths was his best by far during that period); failed in the 2012 edition of this race but did not have the smoothest of trips and was only 5 to 1 in that test.

Lightly-raced in comparison to these powerhouses, the sophomore has upgraded dramatically since the removal of blinkers; the fact remains, however, he has not gone past the G3 level and this appears far too demanding a task; solid work tab during the last month does not appear enough to overcome this exceptionally steep class hike.

Retreated at the midway point when setting way too fast a pace in the G1 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont; his only start at this oval was in last season's Breeders' Cup Classic; the return to a mile should suit and a change of riding tactics seems in order.

Yet to win a graded stakes, he will likely go to post as one of the rank outsiders in the wagering this afternoon; does sport some superb workouts over the course, however; son of sprint champion Midnight Lute has done well since with the extension in distance, but even the presence of Mike Smith (who is enjoying a banner year) seems insufficient.

Received a classic tune-up in a sprint a month ago where he encountered a bumpy beginning; has made only one lifetime attempt at a route, however, and despite breaking through the 100 Beyer plateau 4 times in his career, seems at a disadvantage against proven milers; upbeat half-mile drill on 10/14 may not matter.

After winning the G3 Pegasus at Monmouth on a golden rail, many handicappers were against his chances in the G1 Haskell; he trounced that field with authority, however, earning his top number; disappointed in this summer's Travers when losing important tactical position early in the race; he is tons better than that performance implies and can rebound under Hall of Fame rider who has been aboard this colt since day one.

 Jockey Lopez seems to have a magic touch as far as this runner is concerned; excellent work tab during the last six weeks is on view; he was game to defeat the ultra-consistent Hymn Book back in July and has performed well in the past following freshenings of 2 months or so; can prove to be the right value play.

 He was part of the suicidal pace in this year's Kentucky Derby; his sprint form during the last few months shows steady progression though and he appears dangerous on the stretchout now; best route effort of his career was when scoring in G1 Santa Anita Derby, surviving pace pressure for a good part of the running; exacta recommendation.

Shoots high off the grass-debut win which clearly was an eye-catching victory but would have to up her a game to a brand-new level against a tough group; her 3-back maiden win looks better since the runner-up finisher Beyered 78 in a next-out PID-MSW win; sharp-KEE synthetic breeze for this.

Shocked Group 1 competition with a field-best Racing Post 114 Rating; clearly has been a different runner since stretched out to today's Mile distance; began career with a dull effort but then came up big to defeat males then just missed against male counterparts 2-back; hopes to save whatever ground possible then make 1-big late run.

Began career with a promising-dirt win; her dam is a multiple G1-grasser; could not get up at shorter in last which is a major issue cutting back in distance; the grass debut was a better Beyer but have her ranked a notch below the top contenders.

Shown potential in Ireland but picked up her game dramatically when bet hard in the states stretched out to 1 Mile with improving Beyer speed figures; late runner has found a way to rally from far back but is likely to encounter a lot more traffic in a bigger field today; sharp-SA turf workout suggests she is ready for another big try.

Seemed well on her way to her 2nd straight win to commence career stalking the pace nicely before taking over but when struck right handed by the rider she made a left-hand turn dropping the jockey; has been working steadily off the 48-day absence and while clearly talent here she has to prove she can handle intense handling in deep stretch.

Grillo was her 4th in a row scoring the last-to-1st win with a field-best Beyer speed figure attached 1st Lasix; can she can get up in time cutting back while right back in 26 days off latest with 91 days between races for last?; obviously there is plenty of talent here and is clearly the one they will have to hold off late.

CLOSER LOOK: This reformed claimer will need things to break just right in order to have any outside chance of succeeding today; the horse she beat in April by a nose has won three times since, but the last was just in a $63K Calder stakes with an 87 Beyer; the show horse in the Calder Oaks in April won once, a maiden $35K claimer and has been out of the money twice since the 4/13 effort; this stone-cold closer should get a legit pace to attempt to run down with Delta and the Mandella charge posting legit splits; since 2006, every Distaff winner has had a final prep at either Anita or Belmont; will be in the picture late if at all.

Good things come in small packages and this 6-pack of a race is a calling card as her only poor effort came in trouble debut; mare got away with tracking a slow pace in the Shuvee and the place horse that day cashed next out in a $100K stakes, then won right back in a $111K CD stakes with a 90 Beyer; versatility is one of her better assets, she can be placed anywhere and still fire; the drill on the 12th was 2 ticks the best and tied with the Sadler-trained winner Horizontalyspeakin, who also was 3rd beaten just over 2 in an $80K optional on 9/29; mare doesn't have to be dead last early this time, she's proven at the trip, was inching toward the winner last time, has every right to be in the thick of it.

Hung wide from the marooned slot in the only poor effort in May; freshened by Mott after the facile score in the Mother Goose, she won in professional manner last time and proved she belongs as the place horse in her Gazelle victory has put 4 wins together since and must be faced once again; she also beat a pretty nice horse last time as Grade 1 winning Sweet Lulu was tasting defeat for the first time in her career; she has proven she can put wins together and if you go deep in her pedigree you'll find near $600,000 earner Xaar; could see her being the stalking component of the Mott trainees with a trip similar to the Mother Goose journey; not impossible task.

This star attempts to record her third straight victory in this race; she tried the $10 million World Cup now twice but has responded after that taxing trip both times; nearly 7 clear in last and it's possible she was not tightened to the gills with this huge payday down the road; her trainer has put her through her motions in the last couple of drills and the :46.50 drill on the 12th was followed on the tab by restricted stakes winner Saint Arthur, who was timed in :47.18; Mott has owned this race the last few years and his trainees have won the last 3 runnings of this race and his student Mushka ran 2nd in 2009; figures to get first run on all except the Mandella charge, the one to deny.

This true horse for the course is one of 9 runners in this year's Cup trying to win in consecutive years; best when sent along, but she can sit just off the pace and still cash and she proved last time she can beat older horses; she has to find a way to turn the tables on Sylmar but note this gal was bumped and acting up in that Churchill defeat; note the last 3 runnings of his race at Anita have been won wire-to-wire; the drill on the 15th was 3 ticks the best over next by a Mandella trained winner; the average drill on the 15th was 1:01 flat; 9 furlongs could be pushing the envelope; both sire, dam were sprint only but half bro Into Mischief took a Grade 1 at 8 and a half furlongs extending his winning margin a bit late; elusive proposition.
