Derby undercard at CD May 1; even so, the Beyer wasn't any great shakes (81) so he'll surely need a significant move forward; but hey, daddy won this on his way to the Triple Crown, HOY and the HOF and HOF trainer Lukas knows what it takes to will one of these, having won 6; still must run a race he hasn't come close to running yet

TRAINER: Dirt (1293 23 $1.69) Routes (591 22 $1.78) GrdStk (16 .06 $0.38) CLOSER LOOK Made headway in the G1 Ky. Derby to get up for 7th; trouble is, he was far, far back early and never really in the race; sure, it's nice he passed so many, but let's face it, many he passed were giving way; remember, too, he saved ground until the far turn; you certainly have to like his 'try' and that he'll keep coming but his lack of speed routinely puts him behind the 8-ball factically, leaving him with too much to do and giving some nice 3yos a headstart and first run; but hey, you need someone to fill out those tris and supers right?

CLOSER LOOK The ensuing chaos aside, he was marvelous in the G1 Ky. Derby; not brilliant like Baffert's American Pharoah of Justify but surely harkens back to Baffert's Silver Charm in terms of guts and effort; Beyer went up, too; however, there may be issues; likes the lead but stablemate Concert Tour may be quicker and Midnight Bourbon's connections wanted the lead in the Derby but couldn't get it and could send here, meaning there's a chance he's outrun early and stuck inside with the possibility of getting shuffled back - unless he goes, goes from the start, in which case does he go too fast?; Baffert tied for the most Preakness wins (7).

CLOSER LOOK Kept to his task well for 3rd in the G2 Wood at AQU April 3, though the 2 who beat him didn't do all that well in the G1 Ky. Derby, Brown opted to skip the Derby with this guy (already the same owner's Highly Motivated going there), pointing for this instead; Brown won this in 2017 with the same owner's Cloud Computing, who also did not run in the Derby; certainly has quality and he's run just 3 times so there's plenty of upside here; and while he can close he doesn't have to come from way out of it, and maybe 'Spirit, Tour and 'Bourbon provide a pace he'll relish... maybe.

CLOSER LOOK Connections said before the G1 Ky. Derby there were going for the early lead but a bad start and early trouble quashed those ideas; to his credit, this son of HOY Tiznow kept to his task and ran 6th; cost $525K so you know there are expectations here and trainer Asmussen has continued to sing his praises; worked since and he's got speed; note, his solid 2nd in the G2 La. Derby came at this trip; figures in it from the bell with a better start, though does that lead to dueling between 'Spirit and Tour?; Asmussen has won this twice (Curlin, 2007; Rachel Alexandra (2009).

CLOSER LOOK His 2 wins have come on turn and synthetic, yes, but he was a good 2nd in the G1 American Pharoah on SA dirt last fall and a decent 3rd in the G2 Blue Grass on KEE dirt April 3 so he seems fine on dirt; didn't go in the Derby but has worked well in the interim pointing for his; showed a bit more early pizzazz in the Blue Grass, too, so he doesn't necessarily have to come from way out of it, meaning he's got some versatility; seems an improving sort and while the Derby winner is in here it's not as if this is the strongest Preakness field we've seen.

CLOSER LOOK He's a foreigner, yes, but that's an American pedigree as daddy was champion 3yo male and damsire was a 2-time HOY (and won this race); showed talent in Japan in the fall and they targeted the G2 UAE Derby March 27 but things didn't go so well there and off that they ship halfway around the world again to try this; had he run better in Dubai he'd be intriguing but that he showed nothing at any point there doesn't get the pulse racing; at least has shown talent on dirt and lures one of America's top rider but a win here would be a surprise, no doubt.

CLOSER LOOK Rallied for 2nd in the G3 Lexington at KEE April 10, though let's face it, he was never really a threat to a big winner; that also came in slop and if this is run on dry land, as it likely will considering the forecast, he's got to do a lot, lot better Beyerwise to have a say; lack of speed is an issue as he's been leaving himself a lot to do turning for home, and that also means he's giving some nice dudes a headstart and first run; at least headed the right way; Pletcher has yet to win this (from 9 starters) but that figures to change some day, right?

CLOSER LOOK Whipped maidens at AQU Dec. 13 and in the G3 Withers there Feb. 6; that was enough to make him favored in the G2 Wood there April 3 but he never got into the race; skipped the G1 Ky. Derby as Brown already had Highly Motivated slated for that for these same owners; nice to see he scratched from last week's G3 Peter Pan to take a swing at this; still, he didn't show much spark at any point in the Wood so is he coming into this the right way?; at least he's not facing the strongest Preakness bunch we've seen and as noted he could have gone in the Peter Pan; Brown won this in 2017 with same owner's Cloud Computing.

CLOSER LOOK The way he won his first 3 starts, including a romp in the G2 Rebel at OP March 13, stamped him one of the favorites for the G1 Ky. Derby; however, after dueling early in the G1 Arkansas Derby as the 3-10 favorite he faltered to end up 3rd; not only was that disappointing, they didn't feel good enough about him to even try the Derby; worked well since and has speed but he'll not only likely need it to flee this outside post, what's he to do if Midnight Bourbon and stablemate and Derby winner Medina Spirit send early, too? Baffert tied for the most Preakness wins (7).
