A CLOSER LOOK

1st Oak Tree at

Green Card James

His three synthetic starts have been great performances and his first race three-year-old male well be ready to show us his top try while getting back on synthetic surface and make his third start back from leg...

Imco Spirit (IRE)

This barn has been very tight for this meeting and it looks like this gelding handled a synthetic surface just fine in recent judging from his most recent workout, the sows have been tightened for this and is certainly interesting to see Murtagh get the assignment...

Riviera Cocktail

This colt sports a quality pedigree and he's a 1/2 to 3/4 stakes winner (Eclipse $537,346K), War Front (413,424K), and Teammate (422,618K); he's the type who needs to avoid falling too far out of the through the opening stages but it looks like his connections are hoping the addition of blinkers will do just that...

Headache (FR)

He's a G3 winner overseas, and even though he's made a lot of starts in the claiming ranks lately, it's the rare day when he fails to show up and run his race, and the fact that he's won 5 of 12 starts racing over synthetic surfaces is a reason to take his chances seriously in here.

Royal Punisher

This lightly raced three-year-old clearly has a good deal of natural ability to work with and he is out of a mare who was multiple graded stakes placed; runner-up from latest won, next-out at Zia on 11/3 going 1m vs. alw rivals; he needs to avoid an early pace dispute, and the added distance is a concern, but this Cal-bred is to be respected nonetheless.

Deal Breaker (GB)

He's stakes placed overseas, and like to see what he did in his North American racing debut going a mile at Del Mar; this is a barn and rider that team up with success, but it is fair to question his desire to win races when seeing that he's won just 2 of 17 career starts, including 1 of his last 12 going back through 2008.

On Fire

He's a tough one to back with the win dollar win seeing his 2-for-26 career mark, and he's recorded only a single victory from his last 19 starts going back through 2008, and note all of the runner-up finishes he's settled for along the way.

Exuma

It looks like this stakes placed performer is going to need to produce his best performance to date in order to have a say in the outcome, and note that he finished behind today's rival Riviera Cocktail in his most recent outing; one-time winner is going to have to be ready to take a noticeable step forward.

Joshua's Dream
 Maybe he has been facing some competition lately, but he defeated today's rival, Ded Breaker, just three races ago and it's difficult to find fault in a horse who has won 9 of 21 career starts, including 7 of 11 synthetic surface starts. Rosario seems to know all the right buttons to push about this gelding, so going to look for him to give another good account of himself.

 He almost always shows up with a top effort and has to respect the way that he's performed in his last three starts since being claimed by his current connections, this barn has been quiet at this meeting, but they are showing up with a contender for this, and this is a runner who has the ability to adapt to any early pace scenario.

Mr. Hot Stuff
 G1 stakes placed three-year-old is a full to G1 winner Colonel John, a contender in the Classic tomorrow, and he that this colt might be ready for a top try while going turf/synthetic; his most recent race over a synthetic is better than it looks on paper as he was bolted up in behind horses much of the way, and when he was able to get into the clear in the stretch, and switched over to his right lead, he finished full of run.

 On paper, it looks like this colt is going to need to see a number of these show up with less than their best to have a chance, and he's up against 1 with an extreme outside post to play; however, ignore this trainer/jockey tandem at your own risk as Gomez has won with 5 of 7 (44%) mounts for the barn in 2009, including 4 of 21 (56%) at the current meeting.

A CLOSER LOOK

2nd Oak Tree at SA

Cherryblossommiss
Enters this off a wide trip down the hillside course and boasts a bullet Hollywood drill for her return to the main track; while her maiden score came going long, she did run well sprinting to begin the year; with the switch to Bejarano we wouldn't count her out.

She's Very Rare
Four year old was out of her element on Cal Cup Day, but she finds herself in a much better spot here; late runner tries open company, but she figures to get a decent amount of pace in front of her and should be rolling in the lane in her first local try.

Loveli
Return from the freshening wasn't much, but she did run well in victory over the local main track 3 starts back; she figures to find herself well within striking range of the pacesetters early and she's been working like she's ready to take a step forward in this one.

Emba U. T. K.
Graduate upset cheap claimers at Del Mar and was given some time off the effort; she's worked well in the interim, but the numbers she's earned aren't close to what it would take to win this; looks to be a long price.

 She's done little wrong in her two starts and she'll make her way up the class ladder as runner up from their last returned to score with an 8 Beyer; she certainly has a lot to keep improving and she does that in here she'll find her self right in the thick of this.

 Turns back to try this sprint distance for the initial time after her second straight runner up effort going long; she's proven she's a solid fit at the level and she should have a little extra to offer late at this trip; she should be right to include her.

 Fresh filly found herself well out of it early in her Del Mar trial and failed to make much of an impact; she's usually much closer to the pacelers early and her career best Beyer came in her lone start over the track; she's working in typical Headley fashion for her return.

 Late runner got a hot clip to rally into last time but was unable to get to the winner when beaten chalk in her first start since Del Mar; Gomez agrees to ride her back and she catches a field that figures to offer a good amount of early lick; barn has been unlucky at the stand and they haven't had a lot of recent success with runners second back from the break.

Sir Dave

His only win this year came in an off-the-turf situation in a race run over a sloppy track. He indeed the 2-back runner as Mar catches the eye but often do you see them in half-mile in 45:46 when on 11 furlongs? (1-2-3) ended up 9-10-9 in Mar. Dave's lone try on a synthetic strip wasn't encouraging although he'd been on the lines for 2 months prior to his 1/2-mile journey on August 30 you discount the Aug. 30 for mentioned reasons than numbers on the page. I strongly that this longshot is good enough.

Eldafer

Well he got drilled by 19 up against Nite Light in but the good news is that runner has known success around 3 turns in the past. In fairness, this one was a better than Nite Light in that furlong score at Belmont was 17-1 on the board for a reason; he took plenty of action and then turned Nite Light away in the Philly Park and maaaaaaaybe he was his undoing in latest. Nite Light seems fairly live in his spot and a win by this one would further enhance what was already clearly quite a claim in January; a rags-to-riches story.

Man of Iron

Speaking of Fags To Fiches here's one out of the box. Better Than Honour, whose last 3 prior foals have been Belmont Stakes winner, Belmont Stakes winner, Fiches, and Peter Pan. Casino Drive; this runner certainly doesn't lack for pedigree while he's 2-for-3 on synthetic surfaces as well; note that last year's winner of this event ended the Diamond Stakes at Dundalk and that this year's Dundalk winner, Mastercraftsman (B.C. Mile), missed by just ONE length to super horse Sea The Stars back in August. Iron may have to improve significantly to threaten but he is a 3yo with a pedigree for distance; can't eliminate.

Gangbuster

Main leather in his cap was the romping win over 13 furlongs of Polytrack at Keeneland last spring but consider that he was 16-1 on the board and that those racing 8-7 early ended up 1-2 in order (1:11.47 on the front end - how lucky could he have been?); as this runner is already a 4yo he cannot be expected to improve as needed to have much hope come crunch time; consider that the Aug. 5 event at Del Mar was one in which those racing 8-7-8-9 early ended up 2-3-1-4 and then include this one only if you think the pace will be hot and heavy; longshot.

Potosina
She looked good in her first start over turf in her most recent start at Belmont Park, and even though she benefited from a soft trip that day, she showed how handy she is, and when she switched leads about a furlong from the finish, she motored away from them; it seems like there is still more to be seen from this miss, and she projects for another favorable trip after breaking out of post one.

Elusive Galaxy (IRE)
She didn't run poorly in her North American racing debut at Woodbine in her latest start and she didn't get away from the gate in very good order before making a move for the lead; not going to be surprised if she gives a good account of herself in here, but maybe she's better off at distances shorter than today's one-mile assignment.

Smart Seattle
She really couldn't have been much more impressive in her career debut when running past today's rival Hatheer through the Saratoga stretch, but she wasn't a match for Tapitsfly at second asking, and have to give her a little bit of a downgrade after giving up a clear late advantage, off of a soft trip, to House of Grace in the Jessamine, even if that race was moved to the main track.

Rose Catherine
She looked like she was trying to impersonate Hot Dixie Chick in her turf debut in her most recent outing, and always like to see it when a horse takes a big step forward off of a surface switch; Speightstown has not only made a lot of noise as a win-early sire, but his offspring are taking to turf as well; there's a lot of potential living here at the moment.

La Nez
Sire wins with approximate 13% of his turf starters and stakes winning dam won 5 of 15 starts for 138K, including 2 of 2 turf starts for 38K, 3rd in isher from latest won next to here on 10/31 going 1m over turf vs. MSW rivals with an 8-Beyer; can't help but feel this is a very tough spot for the first turf test.

Jungle Tale
Her turf starts really are worth watching, she had traffic trouble at a key point in her debut at a time when the winner slipped away, and she really dug in trying to reel in the rival once she got clear, and her most recent start, her clet was shuffled back to last at the top of the stretch, and she put in a bold run before finishing second behind a soft winner; note that this is the only Asmussen starter here on Friday and Saturday.

House of Grace
Thought it was extremely impressive for a two-year-old filly to make her career debut going 1 1/16m and win the way that she did, and that was a decent filly in Beautiful Song that she left five lengths behind; she followed that up with a determined effort in the Jessamine, a race where she looked like she wasn't going to be able to do any better than second at the top of the stretch, there's just so much to like about what she's shown in her first two starts.

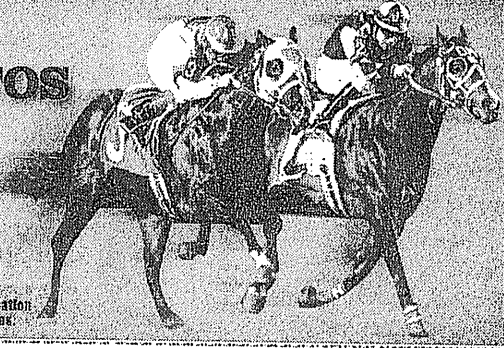

Lillie Langtry (IRE)
They're being a little holly about her overseas, and they can't seem to get enough of her after sending her out as an odds-on favorite in her last three starts; this is clearly a filly with a good deal of ability, but she's meeting a very good looking field of two-year-old fillies in here, and this will be her first test beyond 7f; using Formulator, Aidan O'Brien is for 23 with foreign shippers over the past three years, including Dylan Thomas in the '07 Turf at .90-1, and Soldier of Fortune in the Turf here last year at 1.60-1.

Hatheer
This filly has a top-shelf pedigree, and she's out of a mare who was a multiple G1 winner racing over turf; she's done little wrong in her first three starts but she's been beaten by a couple of today's key rivals in Smart Seattle and House of Grace in those races; not going to count this lightly raced miss out of it, but a forward move is a must.

Tapitsfly
 Her one start over turf was a strong performance and really liked the high degree of cruising speed she displayed that day, and it was very impressive when she turned away multiple challengers in that race, including a very bold challenge entering the stretch from today's rival Smart Seattle; she looked extremely comfortable in that turf workout on Halloween, and going to look for her to deliver her best performance to date.

Junia Tepzia (IRE)
 Tough to knock what she's done in her first two races in Italy, and she deserves some extra credit for making light work of her opponents while being asked to cover a mile, and 7 1/2f, in her first two career starts; Team Valor-owned miss attracts the services of Fallon, and she has to be considered a very interesting player in here.

Lisa's Kitten
 She produced a strong stretch run to break her maiden at Belmont Park two races back, and even though it's fair to question the competition she met up with at Retama in her latest race, it was still pretty impressive to see her overcome that kind of trouble around the far turn; nevertheless, this bunch just might prove to be too much for her to handle at this point in time.

Dad's Crazy
 She deserves credit for getting the better of Tapitsfly in the off-turf Miss Grillo in her latest outing, but feel that Tapitsfly is just a stronger runner over turf, and this filly has been beaten by a number of today's rivals in her three turf starts.

In the Slips
 She'll be the import that gets overlooked in here if she draws into this contest, and it looks like she handled a one mile assignment quite nicely in her last start in GB, and it's interesting to see that this will be her first start with Lasix.

A CLOSER LOOK
6th Oak Tree at SA

Visit (GB)
Her hand may have been forced last time with middling speed in the Yellow Ribbon when keen to run early but this time she has a right to gun hard and take advantage of the cozy slot; miss gave backers a nice 17-1 thrill in this fray last year before folding her cards; still seeking her coming out party stateside, she looks like a tough one to ride in that she has to make the lead at just the right time but if she makes the top, she controls her own destiny; she got a great trip in the last race sitting right off the pace, making the top turning for home but unable to repulse the Gallagher student; look for her rider to be aggressive and miss may have to discourage Dynaforce early on; the distance looms the main concern.

Forever Together
Would not be super quick to buy into the theory she is not as good as she was last year; toss last as she has never been 20 off the pace in her life; she may have just hated the soft going and note she had a hiccup last year on the yielding Woodbine course and failed to hold on the off course in the Just a Game; expertly managed all year, am much more inclined to see her sitting 6 or so lengths away from the leaders this time; there is not much pace so she may have to quicken into moderate splits but she accomplished that and nailed the speed 4/11 after they went :51 and big change; the mare had a work at Sheppard's farm 2 weeks after the First Lady and another private work there on 10/25; she remains the queen until dethroned.

Rutherienne
Have always likes this gal, and why not?; she has won half her starts, lays it on the line just about every time and is repeatedly proven off the bench; her only Grade 1 win came in 2007 in the Del Mar Oaks with a 98 Beyer; she had every reason to get beat last time but found a way to prevail as she had to weave her way between horses to get up just on the inside of 2nd choice Quiet Meadows; she is the type of runner that can overcome adversity, she doesn't appear to get intimidated and she has proven she can rally into a slow pace too; tabbed at 12-1 in the Ladbrokes futures, she looms value and she wants to beat ya.

Magical Fantasy

All she has done is punch the clock and get the job done; the pace in the Yellow Ribbon was not blazing but it was contested as a quartet was in front of her putting pressure on each other...

Pure Clan

Hung out in the marooned side in this race last year, filly has been consistent and is a specialist at the distance; she came into this race last year just as sharp as she is now...

Middy (GB)

Tabbed in the futures as chalk with the defending champion at 3-1 by Ladbrokes, this mare has every right to run huge and only serious runners are in the money every single time...

Dynaforce

Like last year, she only had the one win coming to this race and got a feeling she would rebound here after the events Flower Bowl trip; mare promoted the pace from the inside...

Maram

Connections were considering the Ladies Classic but the question may be is she set to take on the best older distance off just 2 races this year; she also has to prove she can handle this far and has never tried turf here...

Free Flying Soul

Razor-sharp workout on 10/28 adds to the cause; meets nemesis Silver Swallow again and must negotiate this trip for the first time, a negative combination of factors; on the plus side is a perfect record over the course and the fact that most of her foes are unfamiliar with this surface; mixed signals.

Sara Louise

Narrowly lost to the celestial Indian Blessing in a thrilling finish at Belmont; despite inexperience over the synthetic surface, notice the steady progression of the local workout regimen; connections probably would have preferred a wider slot yet this filly still must be respected as one of the main forces today.

Game Face

A lifetime .500 hitter, she must deal once again with the presence of Informed Decision who has her number; steady lass must middle move at the precise moment, and get ideal race flow, in order to turn the tables; still have doubts.

Only Green (IRE)

Irish-bred has proven to be a versatile stylist and has a win over a polytrack surface to her credit; was used as a rabbit in some of her defeats in France; sophomore has never won against older runners, a major shortcoming; cannot be endorsed as the one to key on top.

Silver Swallow

Ultra-consistent racehorse can overcome various pace situations; shows a solid slate and has run well off the bench in the past; perfectly space works going into this affair; worth some consideration for the facta if the odds are true.

Evita Argentina

Defeated Silver Swallow in G2 affair back in July; enjoyed perfect, clear finish when doing so and may not be so fortunate in this tight field; morning trials over this course of late are not as sharp as some of her key opponents; prefer others based on the fact.

Informed Decision

Outstanding portfolio with a focus on her near perfect record at seven-eighths; closed with a professional burst to win at Keeneland and draws a good attack post today; has the ability to stay within range regardless of the early splits; the selection.

Seventh Street

An excellent finished who has never finished out of the money but the question remains as to whether seven furlongs will suit her today; was game in defeat in the G1 Ruffian but subsequent work tab is modest at best; despite drawing a comfortable outside slot, she may have to run a career best to defeat this stellar line-up.

Ventura

One of the great mares in recent history, she draws the ideal stalking post today; will try to avenge the bitter narrow defeat to Informed Decision earlier this year but that may depend on avoiding another extra-wide path; latest works suggest readiness; ultimate respect.

Careless Jewel
Sophomore has been little short of spectacular since setting foot on conventional dirt 3 starts back - at Delaware, strolling home in each of her tries over the stuff; she handled a synthetic surface quite easily in Canada and her 3/4s drill here last week left little doubt she likes the Pro Fide as well; inside draw means her speed will once again be on display and have to doubt anyone will be able to step with her early; she'll be hit hard at the windows, but it looks as if they'll have to run this filly down to win.

Life Is Sweet
Undefeated filly Zenyatta's stablemate has been a bit of a disappointment since hooking that gal in the Milady back in May; the added sixteenth should play to her benefit over a track she loves and she is working well, but the pace scenario in here certainly doesn't flatter her running style; she'll be coming late, but could be left with a lot to do late.

Mushka
Filly encountered trouble and was put up in Keeneland's Spinster, making her a perfect 2 for 2 lifetime over a synthetic surface; though she's multiple graded SP on the lawn, she may actually be better over this footing and she enters this in sharp form for what has proven to be an effective trainer/jockey combo back on the East coast; the pace in here doesn't figure to help her, though, and it's fair to question whether she's really this good.

Music Note

Four year old flopped in her first start of the year, but looked like her old self in her last two in New York; though she's won 5 Grade 1s, just one of those came around two turns and that's the configuration she'll face today; Godolphin gal did run pretty well for third behind Zenyatta when split by her uncoupled stablemate in this heat last year and she worked well over this surface last week; in her current form she certainly deserves a shot to prove she can step as well over this footing, but as the morning line chalk we'd respect while trying to beat her.

Three year old was beaten chalk at Woodbine in her first start outside of Europe, but she still ran pretty well for second money; she's taken a couple of G1s overseas and was even a length or so off Goldikova back in July, but she'll be asked to cut back and handle a synthetic surface for the initial time in here; wouldn't completely count her out, but she'd need to be a much better price this time to include her.

A CLOSER LOOK 9th Oak Tree at SA

Bahama Mama (IRE) Say she just needed her last and you have something to work with here; miss caught crazy splits in the Del Mar finale and just could not keep up; like the drills since last effort, she showed renewed zest in the Sunday work and will likely have to come out rolling from the rail and try to steal it; prominent early at least.

Captain's Lover (SAF) Group 1 winner has faced some runners and she had legit excuse of the soft course when she tired two back at SAR; any horse that can win half her starts has a ton of ability and the Western winds seem to treat her just fine if you key off the best of 72 Halloween bullet; like fact she relaxed in the sloppy horse score and she's back on her preferred surface; respect.

Closeout The Fletcher charged that beat her last time is G3 placed but her best moment came winning a split of a $55K AP stakes; almost 4 clear last time on a surface she may not have adored; miss forced to steady in the August fray but can't see a valid excuse for the Chicago flop in the $100K restricted stakes; miss rates an up-close glance but she will need to pick it up.

Cat by the Tale She likes to cut it close even on her best days but any horse that can beat 18 rivals to graduate has talent; she has run a bang-up races statside and it's not a simple chore to win down the tricky hill in a first time experience; miss has a right to have a nice career as dam won a couple of stakes and dropped a 6-figure earner; nothing wrong with getting some value on a Drysdale charge either.

Zardana (BRZ)

Love, fact she has speed but doesn't absolutely need the lead to win; she didn't break all that great in the beach finale and was steadied in the G2 in July; could envision her getting a similar trip to her score in the Osunitas but may have to improve a bit to repeat.

Teamgeist (ARG)

Far from disgraced in the Spinster but she clearly prefers the turf; miss ran with the best in her native land and she really improved in the second U.S. race after a rough trip in the DeLa Rose; the concern is she had a hard time keeping up with pedestrian splits in August and today's pace will be much, much faster; looms late threat if at all.

Bel Air Sizzle

Been dining in the stakes most of the year but found her friends last time all out in the process; miss does have a tendency to walk out of the gate and that must be addressed but there is plenty of speed in here to set up her late punch; she was just dull and too late two back and it's hard to back her off that line.

Meydan Princess (IRE)

Hung 4 wide last time, she was inching toward the winner last time but will have to step it up; with her style, the trip gods pretty much have to always be on speed dial because she generally has to weave her way over, around or through horses; could see her sitting 6 or more off the pace, hoping for a pace meltdown.

Quiet Meadow

She ran her eyeballs out in defeat last time to a miss that has won half of her career starts and just outgamed this gal rallying on the inside in the G3; obviously, if Ruthienne runs huge in the sixth, this one will be flattered big time; her adaptability could be her best asset; she can track mid pack, can lead, can sit just off the lead and perform and love fact she has won at a number of different venues; the worry is the 7 slices and the fact that after so taxing a race, can she put in another huge effort?

Tuscan Evening (IRE)
Game in the G2 win in July and she showed that day she was not speed crazy; wonder Hollendorfer had this race in mind all the time?; note she won on the stretch out in May; start the hat trick run; kept leg moving with the drills since, the rider up for the last 2 wins don't count this miss out.

Internallyflawless
This may be a better distance for her as she was getting tired even in victory in the Oaks two back; she was on a very moderate pace that day but will likely have to come from farther back here with a projected pace today; miss has not made them alike though and will need a rebound effort to get there.

Royal Taat (NZ)
In a bit tight, but she didn't fare great in her other Graded attempt and this race comes up super tough quality-wise; short horse in the July finale took a $100K stakes next out, loss next pair; would expect rider to take a hold, try to get her to relax, then make the one mile hoping the speed wills.

Tizaqueena
This miss is the real deal and was only a nose out of the victors in the Chicago finale; her ability to settle may be the key factor for her today; she has been improving steadily, may have disliked the soft course last time, but still ran gamely in the lane; should be right there with a good journey.

Exquisite (NZ)
Mare showed a new wrinkle last time running toward the rear; then exploding; that would probably be her best shot here but the problem is she is lacking a much tougher group and she may have a harder time picking up these kind of rivals in the lane; a pure disappointment in the other G2 effort but last race came back okay; as the show horse took the G3 Ramser and the 5th finisher took a $62.5K optional; still would not bank on a repeat.
