CLOSER LOOK After splashing home to win the Long Branch at Monmouth, the original plan was to target the Pegasus and Haskell over his home track, but with Maximum Security looming as a possible ominous presence in the former, he was re-routed here for the bigger purse; both lifetime wins came in the slop at Monmouth and he was 51 to 1 when beaten by Tacitus in the Wood Memorial; certainly had an excuse in the Wood as was hustled up to set very fast fractions before throwing in the towel; set a pressured pace along the rail in the Long Branch, but was handed a clear lead turning for home when his pace rival went wrong; can make the lead here from the rail, but there are plenty of class and distance concerns to deal with; prefer others.

CLOSER LOOK Have to credit Romans for keeping the faith; took advantage of a hot pace to finish a rallying 2nd at 128-1 odds in the Holy Bull, but many folks thought he was exposed when he failed to back up that effort in the Fountain of Youth; like many horses, he was compromised by a lack of pace in the Florida Derby, and it was encouraging that he showed more speed when an even fifth in the Pat Day Mile; received a wonderful ride from Joel Rosario in the Preakness as he saved ground at the back of a hot-paced race, stayed inside in the stretch and rallied to just get up for second; not overly concerned about the distance and think he can be a bit closer to the pace if that's what Saez desires; occasionally runs a big race at a big price so won't count him out.

CLOSER LOOK Japanese invader received a fantastic ride by Julien Leparoux in the Derby; brushed the side of the stall at the start and was far back early, but Leparoux didn't panic; he stayed inside to save valuable ground and the colt was able to weave his way through some traffic to finish nicely along the inside; another that shouldn't have an issue with the distance, but he didn't look very smooth in his most recent workout as he stumbled nearing the finish of his five-furlong drill; doesn't have much speed and will need a bit of pace to setup his kick; a slight move forward from the Derby gives him a chance to get a piece of this at the very least; interesting.

CLOSER LOOK Really liked this gelding's effort in the Withers as he stumbled badly at the start and prompted the early pace along the rail before being pocketed inside; professionally went through a tight opening on the fence to get the win; thought he gave another good effort in the Wood after chasing fast fractions; couldn't find any excuse in the Derby other than the wet track as he saved ground throughout in a one-paced effort; last 5 races have come at 9 furlongs or greater so should have plenty of bottom for this test; came out of his most recent work with a minor foot injury and that is somewhat of a concern; leaning elsewhere.

CLOSER LOOK Jumped onto the radar screen after a devastating victory against much-weaker horses in his seasonal debut at Tampa Bay Downs, then acquitted himself quite well going nine furlongs in the Louisiana Derby (Mr. Money, the fifth-place finisher of that race, came back to beat Everfast in the Pat Day Mile); perhaps the Derby was a case of too much, too soon for this lightly-raced colt; hustled out of the gate, he was between 4 and 7 paths wide on the backstretch before calling it a day with 3 furlongs to run; he can sit closer to the expected moderate pace, but must improve in order to pull off the upset.
