CLOSER LOOK 2 of his 3 wins have come here, though both came on the Widener Course - we're on the inner course today; did some good work last year, though of course that all came against lesser than he faces here; also, it's not as if he comes here riding high as after being gone over 6 months he hit the brakes hard in a turf sprint stakes here June 7; yes, he may well have needed that race, but it still doesn't exactly get the pulse racing and surely he's facing tougher today; maybe dropping back a full furlong will be key...maybe.

CLOSER LOOK This race was not on the radar for this Tapit homebred, until that sharp allowance score here 16 days ago that is; showed good speed right from the start in that spot and he never let up at any point en route to a dominant win with a 97 Beyer; that appeared to be a solid group of allowance rivals on the way in but he is facing much tougher here have to believe he will have to go some in order to clear off on this field; has always appeared to have talent and respect that he has clearly improved in his two starts so far this year; interesting.

CLOSER LOOK Strong closer looked good winning his first two starts on turf and he has brought that form over to the main track while winning the Grade 3 Sam F. Davis - closing into a fast pace - and finishing a good 2nd in the Tampa Bay Derby as a follow-up; prepped for this 10 days ago by losing down allowance rivals without having to go all-in and his connections are showing some confidence by wheeling him right back into the Belmont; needs some pace to run at but expecting him to make his presence felt if he gets it.

CLOSER LOOK The lone Grade 1 winner in this field (he has two) will go heavily-favored in this race based on the form, as he has dominated the Florida preps on the way here and has earned the lone triple-digit Beyer in the field; have no real knocks on him, though he is going to be a very short price and the Holy Bull and Florida Derby were hardly stellar editions this year; tactical colt is easy to root for and likely has a good trip coming but he is going to be very short on the board and really only has one figure that stands out; the horse to beat.

CLOSER LOOK One of the more interesting entrants in this race, he has won both starts since returning from a long layoff in March and earned a solid figure for that maiden win first time back; his figure declined when stretched out last time but he can have some extra credit for that effort as he was kept in tight for much of that race and persevered despite never really having any breathing room until the late stages; there is talent here and the distance is not supposed to hurt his chances; interesting and he benefits as much as anyone from the overall lack of depth here.
