CLOSER LOOK Undeclared colt looks to become the game's 13th Triple Crown winner with a victory here and the second for his trainer who also conditioned the most recent one, American Pharoah, in 2015; much has been said about his slow against the clock Preakness win, but he battled from the bell with his main rival over footing that anyone had a right to dislike and still was able to hold off latecomers who return in here; 2 biggest numbers have come on fast strips so a return to that type of footing may be more to his liking, though there is some rain in the forecast; biggest concern is this being his third start in 5 weeks and he was an unraced maiden just 112 days ago so this Test of the Champion will be just that; he's just 12 furlongs from immortality.

CLOSER LOOK He's been a big disappointment since a solid placing in his first start of the year behind a colt who would go on to take the G1 Florida Derby and just miss second money in the G1 Kentucky Derby; tossing his own Kentucky Derby effort due to the slow start from down inside and a sloppy track that didn't agree with everyone, he shows a couple of ok tries in prep races that don't look to fit so well with these; yes, he's been working better and his sire won this 12 furlong race, but if he were to pull off the same feat it would come as quite the upset.

CLOSER LOOK Ran a big one in the bog at Pimlico just like his legendary conditioner surmised, but after getting a nice setup in front of him he still came up short of Justify at the wire; colt is also returning for his third try in 5 weeks so he could be set up to take a step back while attempting this longer trip and also note that he is bred to eat up the wet going and maybe that helped him strut more of his stuff in Maryland; like the mile drill used to prepare for this, but have to take a stand against him moving forward here.

CLOSER LOOK Lightly raced colt has reportedly been working in very fine fashion upstate in preparation for the stretch out to 12 panels in his first start over the local main track; his maiden win from an outside draw first time going long at Gulfstream Park was impressive enough for a usually patient barn to throw him to the wolves 4 weeks later in the G1 Florida Derby where he gave a terrific account of himself behind the eventual third place finisher in the Kentucky Derby; further confidence led him there as well and despite a slow start and poor track conditions he didn't give a bad account of himself at all; idle since, he's a fresh horse with a right to take a big step forward today; looms the most likely upsetter.

CLOSER LOOK Barn's second entrant in here came to New York with a big shot to win the G2 Wood' Memorial off an impressive maiden win in California over the winter, but he was unable to keep up with the top 2 finishers and had to settle for third money; colt was then posted wide and in an impossible spot in the track when turned back to a flat mile on the Kentucky Derby undercard; while he's bred to handle this trip, foundation has to be a question which leads to the belief that though he is a nice horse, he may end up functioning as a target for Justify to run at here; don't think he'll be around at the finish.

CLOSER LOOK Euro import was originally scheduled to make his stateside debut last month in the Kentucky Derby before coming up sick prior to the race; he'll be given Lasix for his first start for a conditioner who won last year's Eclipse Award for Top Trainer and he'll get the services of last year's Eclipse Award winning rider as well; he's yet to run on dirt and looks to have a preference for synthetic footing, but he's worked just fine over the local main track and this added trip may suit his big body well.

CLOSER LOOK He's another lightly raced colt and he just missed getting up in the Preakness despite a troubled run; he has also been asked to do a lot in a short amount of time, not having started his career until mid-winter, and though he's been on the improve from a figure standpoint, note that he also was bred to adore the conditions in Maryland last time out; pedigree does suggest he'll be ok at today's longer distance and maybe he'll have more to offer, but prefer to limit his use to underneath in the exotics.

CLOSER LOOK He took a big step forward second time in blinkers in taking the Wood Memorial prior to a tough experience in the Kentucky Derby in which he impressively fought on and passed runners after taking a ton of the strip's slop; he's had plenty of time to recover from that one and has been working well for local owners who would like nothing better than for their runner to move forward and spoil this Triple Crown bid by Justify; his daddy was a good second to the filly Rags to Riches (trained by this conditioner) in this heat's renewal 11 years ago; expecting to see him bounce back with a much improved effort today; consider.

CLOSERLOOK Thought his G2 Louisiana Derby score was the most gutsy effort on the Triple Crown trail this past spring and can excuse his subsequent try chasing a hot clip from a wide spot over a wet surface in Kentucky; hood comes off the barn's second runner in here and he'll get the services of a top pilot for his return after working well over the local footing; love the A.P. Indy (1992 winner of this race) blood on top and this guy does the natural speed to find a good tracking spot from the outset today; longshot deserves a look.
