Almutawakel (PP-6)

Inconsistent sort who jumped up to win 1 1/8-mile Prix Jean Prat from the subsequently disappointing Gold Away and Dr Fong; has been away a long-time, makes his first start on dirt, but could be a pace factor; a prime candidate to ultimately bring up the rear.

Has served Godolphin as rabbit in the Eclipse Stakes (for Daylami) and Prix Niel (for Sea Wave, who flipped his rider leaving the gate); despite rider comments to the contrary, it is the belief he is in again to cut out a sensible pace, one that will be required for High-Rise, Daylami and Victory Gallop.

Distance is right, class is undoubted, picks up Sheikh Mohammed's latest favorite in Velazquez; veteran multiple Group/Grade 1 winner has won on soft, good and firm, can dirt, over which he has been working all winter, be that much more difficult? the home team's best chance.

Malek (PP-7)

Subject of a $50,000 win bet in Britain on Wednesday, should be up near leaders early over a track which still favors trackers over closers; relatively fresh from 2 good efforts after long absence since last World Cup; knows his way around; very dangerous, and is the selection here.

Running Stag (PP-8)

Blinkers on the only European entry who is beginning to look a little like a gypsy; probably won't win but probably won't finish last either.

Victory Gallop (PP-4)

Comes into this perfectly, fresh and in form and with 2-time World Cup winner Bailey in the irons; must stay closer than usual as Nad al Sheba does not favor horses which come from far out of it; if Bailey can keep him in touch off what promises to be a pace he will like, he can take it all.
