Last win, over N3X foes, came on the turf; seemed headed the right way then, but then came a few dull efforts; woke up with another good run here Sept. 19, but then came right back to do little; that's the consistent thing about him - his inconsistency; probably needs everything to go ideally for him to handle this caliber, meaning he needs to be feeling good, fire on all cylinders and get his kind of track and trip; it's plausible, but it's still asking a lot, and he's facing some tough customers here; shaky.

Cat's at Home

Kind of soured in the early summer, got some time off, but his return run didn't exactly inspire; still, you don't win 7 races by accident and he's been in the exacta half the time; he a G3 SW and they thought enough of him to try the G1 Met Mile - he was only 13-1 that day and wasn't exactly slaughtered; may be ready for a nice, forward move 2nd time off the layoff, but will even that be enough? tricky read.

Country Be Gold

Give him credit - he's got G1 SP black type now; of course, it didn't hurt Albert the Great ran like a wheel came off, and another foe, Sumitas, was trying dirt for the first time and obviously hated it; still, his best race, like his N4X win at SAR makes him a legit threat here, though his lack of speed means he's taking the worst of it strategically; mixed feelings, but his main importance may be how he does or does not flatter Aptitude.

If he is a dead send from the rail, he might be burned out in a vicious speed duel; if he rates professionally (as he has in the last pair); he might allow the pacesetters the advantage; this is a resilient runner from expert connections but they could not be pleased by today's difficult post; must try to cut the corner or swing 3-wide at the proper moment; still respect despite all the above complications

No secret to his strategy: gain the lead early and improve your position; exits a quality race at Keeneland where Bet On Sunshine (winner of more than $1.4 million) angled out from 5th and pulled away; talented sophomore has shown the ability to repulse multiple early challenges and will gain the rail immediately if Late Carson elects to rate; inexperience over the course is a minus but latest a.m. move is superior; your move.

Earning 3 consecutive triple-digit Beyer's is no easy task; this gelding has escalated from high-grade claimers and can even stalk if need be; does not appear fast enough to tango with Snow Ridge yet should be lurking off that one's flank around the turn; does not draw particularly well, however, as he could be hampered by speed presence Mr. Epperson.

Tranquility Lake

The rail with her type of speed would normally be a good scenario, but the one hole in routes at Belmont started the meeting 7-for-77 and has not been the place to be; her best Beyer on turf dwarfs her best figure on the main track; the main speed should control things early, but her last dirt start when defeating 3 others and getting off easily on the front end hardly entices us, especially if she takes serious support; regular rider Delahoussaye won this race in '93 with Hollywood Wildcat and '94 with Princess Rooney; see her as a better grass horse than dirt.

Flute

Seemed like the best 3-year-old in the land until last out when she was stuck on the dead Belmont rail and could not muster enough to capture the G1 Beldame as the 4-5 favorite; dislike the draw as she figures to be hemmed in along the rail again, but clearly has quality, taking two Grade 1's this year, including the prestigious Kentucky Oaks; shown better tactical speed lately, but figure her to be saving ground then angled out for the drive, hoping the long run on the inside won't destroy chances; obviously very dangerous and the one to beat, however, would liked to have seen her run away convincingly in the Beldame; trainer Frankel seeking to snap 0-for-36 Breeders' Cup drought.

Exogenous

Benefitted from an outrageous non call from the stewards when she clearly impeded Spain in the Beldame while outfinishing Flute; new filly with blinkers, pairing up career best Beyers in last pair over the track, taking a pair of Grade 1's; the 'now' filly, but she benefitted from a perfect trip last time and ran erratically in the stretch; won't get same perfect trip in this big field and saw our top two picks, Fleet Renee and Flute outkick her earlier this year; best form ever, but want to see her do it on the big stage and have our doubts.

Point Given

Six Grade 1 stakes wins;
9 wins and 3 times second from 13 starts, earning $3,968,500.

Miss Linda

On a 3-race winning streak, benefitting from the speed favoring Keeneland oval to wire Grade 1 rivals in the Spinster; can't help but remember her brutal May effort over this track when she was far back behind modest rivals; makes presence felt early, but this strip does not resemble the lightning fast, speed favoring track she just left; if she presses Tranquility Lake, it could seriously compromise her chances.

Black Eyed Susan winner been long odds lately, but has fired quite well and her late running style should fit extremely well in a race that figures to have a hotly contested pace; last was her best ever, but slightly concerned that Chavez leaves for Critical Eye, although Solis is no slouch; may not have been 'this good' in spring events, but last stands out as a very strong effort and we know while some of the others may not want to go this far, she clearly is better the longer they go; have to include on exotic tickets, especially if let go at generous odds again.

Stalked wide at Keeneland hanging on the money in the Spinster behind Miss Linda and Starrer; lets face it, the wins in the Iowa Oaks and Monmouth Breeders' Cup Oaks were public workouts with little competition; may have seen the real Unbridled Elaine last time and while connections picked easy spots for her earlier this year, is ambitiously placed considering latest result; Day, who was aboard for the Iowa Oaks romp, reunites for the big show; Day won this race in '91 with Dance Smartly and '86 piloting Lady's Secret.

Perfect trip, taking a Grade 2, sitting behind 2 speeds and going by when the rider asked; rarely runs to the century mark on the Beyer scale, which puts her at a severe disadvantage against this stellar cast; Spain has had her number throughout career and last represented her first win against anything other than state-breds or allowance company; hard to recommend this longshot.

Grade 1 winner at the distance has found her way into the exacta each time she has faced the starter at Belmont; 1st time in the Walden barn after a very disappointing effort as the lukewarm favorite in the Spinster behind Miss Linda, Starrer and Unbridled Elaine, considering she beat an over-the-hill Beautiful Pleasure in the G1 win, maybe that race isn't as good, as it first appeared and last was simply a dud; Stevens, who won this race in '98 on Escena and '94 at 47-1 on One Dreamer, stays aboard after riding for the 1st time in latest; seriously has her work out for her here.

This race will be won by a horse that fires a minimum 100 Beyer and this gal has not hit the 90 mark in her last 2 attempts; fine record at Belmont and at the distance, but peaked as a 3-year-old and lone graded stakes win came in the mud on the Aqueduct inner dirt; trainer McGaughey won this event in '95 with Inside Information and '88 with Personal Ensign, but he's a rank outsider with this filly in the 2001 edition.

Captured a pair of Grade 1 races at Belmont in career and showed she was somewhat back to her old self, rallying well, but finishing behind 3 of these in the G1 Beldame; New York-bred picks Chavez (won '99 with Beautiful Pleasure) back up, which is a good sign and she should be set up nicely by a hot pace; may have peaked this spring, but seemed on her way back last out and using 'underneath' on the exotic tickets might be the play, considering her hefty price and her previous successful runs over this strip.

55-1 winner of this event last year trying to become the only back-to-back winner of the Distaff other than Bayakoa in '89 and '90; Espinoza rode hard throughout most of the Beldame and she showed plenty of determination in the stretch, trying to outkick favored Flute; when lugging in Exogenous rammed into her twice in the stretch, Espinoza was forced to wrap up, definitely costing her the place money; started off her winning 3-year-old campaign romping in a Belmont allowance, so we know she can handle this surface; last time she drew this far outside was her worst recent finish when 7th from the 13 post in the Kentucky Oaks; trainer Lukas has won the Distaff 4 times (last year and from '85-'87 with Life's Magic, Lady's Secret and Sacahuista); post and latest result, however, making me think she's a tad below the top three.

When she demolished the field in the Mother Goose at Belmont this summer, she marked herself as one of the best 3-year-old fillies in the country, showing ability to rate close to the pace and draw off with authority; inexplicably was gunned to the lead in the Gazelle and tired after dueling through wicked fractions; want no parts of the rail at Belmont and she is as far as you could be from the inside; see her stalking Tranquility Lake and the other speeds and Velazquez moving at the three-eighths, getting first run on the closers; if she fires like the Mother Goose, the others will be running for 2nd money; expecting her very best off this type of freshening; the pick.

A CLOSER LOOK

Juvenile Fillies

Habibti
There is no doubt that this filly has a ton of talent and here's why; crushing maiden win even with a bad start; beat Gr. I company in only her 2nd start; connections top notch (Baffert won this race in 1998 with Silverbulletday) and she continues to work up a storm; now for the bad news, she missed her prep (Oak Leaf); she's now faced with a new surface; a longer distance, a long trip out East, all against the best company she's ever seen; wow, that's asking a lot; wouldn't be surprised to see her 3rd choice behind You and Bella Bellucci which by itself would make her tempting but other circumstances still make this a tall order.

Bella Bellucci

You just know that Drysdale will tighten the screws for this and that we haven't seen the best this filly has to offer; should get a good pace to chase while awesome breeding suggests the added distance a breeze; granted, she only beat 3 others in the Astoria and didn't win by that much but she just looked fantastic; Habibti and You have recorded higher Beyers but that shouldn't bother Bella's backers as 2YO fillies capable of strong improvement seemingly overnight; all set for best but at a price better than deserving favorite You AND with first time Lasix; enough to push her over the top????

Jealous Forum

Beyers say she can't win but tell that to Caressing (2000 winner, $96,000), Cash 'n' Run (1999 winner, $67,000), Epitome (1987 winner, $62,800), and Outstandingly (1984 winner, $47,600); no local experience, quality of prior competition, and pace the drawbacks; yes, she has shown stalking or closing ability in the past but at longer distances she's usually close; similar tactics in this race, against this company, could be disastrous; plenty of upside and a huge price offset by pace, surface, and quality competition.

Sophisticat

Didn't cost 3.4 million for nothing; often times, the pace in this race is brutal so why not a Euro invader to storm down the stretch? you just know that she'll be overlooked on the tote; trainer O'Brien as talented as they come while regular pilot Kinane makes the trip across the pond to the Big Apple; best finish for a horse NOT having a U.S. prep is a tie between Belle Genie (4th, 1994) and Coup De Genie (4th, 1993); 1st time Lasix can't hurt but you just aren't sure how she'll handle the surface switch, are you? price play but after that....

STORMY PICK-G1

Winner of the Spinaway S.-G1, Sorority S.-G3, etc.,

As good as her Adirondack was, the Frizette might have been better; sure, her Beyer went from 107 to 99 but she looked to have a ton left in the Frizette; AND, it was at today's distance and on today's surface; versatile running style another plus as Prado can position her almost anywhere he wants; working great, which is what she's supposed to do, but it still tells us that she loves it here and remains ultra sharp; Frankel will have her ready so it looks as if her only negative will be a low price; deserving favorite.

Shesastonecoldfox

Pace, pace, pace; no doubt that 'Fox is fast but so are Tempera and Take Charge Lady; even if able to clear those 2, there's the problem of You who's versatility makes her a problem; that means no breather for 'fox which is what she'll desperately need; NY-bred hasn't faced a whole lot and she be asked to run 1 1/2 furlongs further than she's ever run; we have to admit that we'd be shocked to see her wire this group; but if you're a believer, you'll be rewarded with a huge price.

Imperial Gesture

Went favored in the Oak Leaf when Habibt missed the race; wasn't much of a test but 'Gesture still failed the exam by not winning; maybe she bounced off the good maiden breaker but that's an overused excuse; monster connections, strong breeding, price, and possible rating tactics are in her corner but she'll still need a career best effort on a new surface at an untried distance; raw talent evident but is that enough???

Take Charge Lady

Drawn outside speed-ball Shesastonecoldfox but inside of Tempera; she employed stalking tactics in the Alcibiades so couldn't she sit the perfect trip behind the duelling 'fox and Tempera? sure, but what about You or Bella Bellucci? we do like the fact that she's undefeated and will be a price but we don't think a favorable pace or trip is in the cards; plus, she'll have to move forward to win this and that would mean improvement in 4 straight races; interesting play but only interesting.

Tempera

Like Habibt, she'll be asked to win this without the benefit of a recent prep; expecting a forward approach to this especially since she comes in fresh and fresh horses show their best speed 1st time back; drawn well but she'll have to dispose of pace nemesis Shesastonecoldfox rather early or she'll never get a breather before the stalkers come a knockin'; if the track comes up wet, Tempera might benefit the most although almost all of these are bred to handle an off track; needs to work out a good trip, on a new surface, without a key prep, but a good price, connections, and breeding combine to help level the playing surface.

Forbidden Apple

Not sure that it's possible for a horse to love a course more than this 6-year-old loves the Belmont turf, and he should be able to work out a favorable ground saving trip breaking from inside post; he appears to be entering this race in line form off G2 score in Kelso, and he really is a top class miler on his day; his price figures to be square here, and he's a must use in exotics.

Navesink

3-year-old has been doing quite well for himself vs. straight 3-year-old competition lately, and it looks like the addition of Lasix helped him bring his game to another level in the G2 Jamaica; versatile colt can adapt to any pace scenario, and handles any footing; no question that this is his toughest test to date, but he's sharp at the right time, and can't be ignored.

Noverre

1/2 brother to Breeders' Cup legend Arazi proved he's a world class miler with win in G1 Sussex Stakes 3 starts back, and he fared very well in the G1 QEII Stakes in his most recent race; he appears to be the stronger of the two European imports in this spot, as he managed to finish well ahead of Bach as the 2-1 favorite in the QEII; Europeans have had a stronger presence in this event in the past, but this looks like there best hope in here.

On paper he just doesn't appear as though he can be quite as good as a number of today's rivals, but this marks his North American debut, and perhaps the fact that he'll race with Lasix for the first time will make a difference; certainly respect connections, and he's faced top company overseas in Fantastic Light, and Galileo, but suspect that he's a cut below a number of these on their best.

He's one of the more interesting contestants in this spot, as his lone turf start was a very solid looking effort despite the fact that he was left alone on an uncontested early lead; he returned to the dirt in his last, and was game every step of the way before succumbing to Classic hopeful Guided Tour late; he's making the third start of his current form cycle, has proven himself capable of putting in a big race, but it looks like the pace in here could be quite contested, so he'll need to avoid getting caught up in the early action.

He certainly didn't disgrace himself in turf debut in G2 Kelso last out, but not totally sold on the idea that he can do better than what he showed that day; he really turned the corner with the addition of blinkers a number of starts ago, and has been nothing short of consistent since, but feel that a mile is pushing his distance limitations, so prefer to ride with others.

Sire gets above average results with his progeny on turf, and dam won once in 4 starts to 4k; have to like the way he blitzed his four rivals in the G2 Jerome last out, but it's a different ballgame with the switch to turf; today, and his breeding dogs don't exactly suggest that he'll love the transition; however, he owns a lot of natural speed, so he'll likely put a lot of pressure on the other early speed types signed on in here; this colt has always boasted a ton talent, but this is a lot to ask in turf debut.

Have to respect this gelding for the fact that he's won 13 of 30 lifetime starts and he's finished in the top three in 25 of 30; he's one of the most naturally talented runners to come along in recent years, but he just seems to lack that winning instinct when he gets into a dogfight; when things come easy for him he can look like a world beater, but when he's challenged inside the final furlong he just seems to be content to back off; it's tough to knock a horse with his resume, but he figures to take his share of the action, and he figures to be tested later; chances are he'll be right there at the finish, but looking elsewhere for the top spot.

Point Given

Second highest average earnings per start in history at $305,269 behind only Sunday Silence.

Came up just short vs. the Belmont loving Forbidden Apple in NY debut in his most recent start, but this gelding was forced to take the overland route while Forbidden Apple found his way to the wire along the inside; Drysdale has put nothing but live horses on the track the entire Belmont meet, and it looks like he has this one set up nicely to give a good account of himself.

Son of Danzig has been very consistent along the Beyer scale with nine straight starts over the 100 point marker, but it's been almost a year since he's visited the winners circle; he prefers to sit out the early running which may work out to his advantage if an early pace battle develops between rivals like Express Tour, Balto Star, Affirmed Success, and City Zip; respect him for his consistency, but not sure that it's reasonable to expect him to notch first win of '01 in this difficult spot.

Numerous Times

He's been nothing short of spectacular in his six starts to this point in his career, and would cap of an incredible, albeit limited, '01 campaign should he prove good enough in this spot; he really showed a lot of courage on his way to a nose victory in G1 Atto Mile last out as he never really looked like he was going to win, and was extremely game in gutting out a victory turning back a number of late challenges; disagree with the short comment for the Atto as he raced in and among horses while in rather tight until getting clear in the lane, and although it wasn't a bad trip, it wasn't exactly perfect either; he proved he's this good in the Atto, and barn has had excellent success with this type of layoff, so looking for him to come through with a very good performance today.

It looks like the Canani barn has gotten to the best of this 5-year-old at just the right time as he enters this race off his career best effort while only making two starts all year; late running son of '90 BC Mile winner Royal Academy rolled to an easy victory in the G2 Oak Tree, and he figures to get an honest pace at the very least to employ his late running tactics today; he's a multiple graded/group stakes winner who has won 6 of 9 lifetime, so he doesn't appear to be short on talent; can't argue with anyone looking in this direction.

Another late running type who figures to get a decent setup in here, and he's one of two horses entered in this event that will be sent out by Neil Drysdale; this gelding boasts the stronger credentials of the two as he is a multiple graded stakes winner and has posted a G1 victory; outside post isn't necessarily ideal, but Stevens will have him out of the early running; and chances are that he'll be launching a wide rally in the clear entering the stretch; his best race puts him in the hunt, and if he can avoid losing too much ground racing outside, he'll be in with a chance through the late stages.

How tough is the Sprint? Here's a 3-year-old filly, win machine (10-for-10 at the distance) emerging from a 121 Beyer romp yet a victory would be considered a surprise; there is historical precedent for success: 3 fillies have captured the Sprint and Very Subtle scored at 3 after competing in the Test as well; the rail presents major problems as she doesn't appear quick enough to step with some rapid elder males; class concerns also loom as Grade 3 Honorable Miss winner Big Bambu seems the best horse she has defeated; gifted lass faces a nearly impossible task.

The Grade 1 King's Bishop winner (at 7 furlongs) is vastly improved at age 3 for Frankel but faces a difficult task dueling inside of formidable pace foes Caller One and Five Star Day; has yet to miss the exacta while firing triple-digit figures in all 10 attempts and was capable of sub .44 zip at Hollywood; won't have to negotiate a 7th furlong here like the Vosburgh but one-dimensional runner lacks a stalking gear; accomplished sprinter may be overbet for imposing connections.

Kona Gold
The defending champ is a gem of consistency who owns the tractability to adapt to any pace scenario; 3, 2, 1 finishes in 3 previous Sprint outings represent the evolution of a champion who has finished in the exacta in his last nine 6 furlong starts while firing Beyers of 112 or better; some question whether this 7-year-old is "over the top" following a loss to Swept Overboard but there's an 11-lb. weight shift in his favor for the rematch; shipping concerns are also allayed somewhat by the fact 2 of his very best efforts came in Kentucky and Florida; looms the one to beat again this year.

Alannan
Stretch-runner hasn't won at this distance since '99 and must reverse decisions to 6 of today's foes while emerging from his worst try of the year; 5-year-old had previously burst upon the national scene during the spring with a pair of graded scores in Kentucky; those triumphs both came at 7 furlongs however with the Churchill Downs Hcp. the only figure effort making him competitive with these; hopes to capitalize on a blistering pace although we're siding with sharper foes.

Caller One
If any entrant is capable of leading the Sprint from start to finish, it's this lightly-raced 4-year-old; has impressed during an abbreviated '01 campaign which began with a sharp win in the Middle East; many have been unable to return to peak form after a trip to Dubai (see Silver Charm, Captain Steve, Men's Exclusive, etc.) but speedball returned to pair up 117 Beyers out West, one as a sharp runnerup to Kona Gold; gave way only in the final furlong of last year's Sprint after drilling a .43 2/5 half mile; hopes to blast off again under Nakatani with perhaps Five Star Day his chief early concern; capable of a big effort if set to roll off the 3-month freshening.

Delaware Township

Horse for the course enters this off a handy repeat victory in the G2 Forest Hills in which he received an excellent stalking trip behind speedsters Disco Rico and Hook And Ladder; 10-time winner is sure to attract plenty of wagering support as he seeks to atone for last year's, no-excuse Churchill debacle; owns the positional speed to ensure a good 2nd flight rating trip while the career-best recent figure and G1 triumph suggest he has made strides as a 5-year-old; solid sprinter could be just a notch below the very best.

Chestnut is another Belmont-lover emerging from one of the best races of his career; colt has become more consistent since learning to rate and finish and was closing fastest of all after experiencing major trouble in the Forego behind Delaware Township; turning back from the 7 furlong Vorburgh has proven a difficult transition for many of his predecessors (only Artax has evicted the Vosburgh/Sprint double); G1 winner can threaten if able to relax behind heated fractions here.

Five Star Day

Rapid 5-year-old's form has been spotty since entering last year's Sprint off a lifetime best run in the Phoenix BC (shading 1:08 for 6 furlongs); need-the-lead type was never a factor after a troubled break in last year's renewal and similar circumstances led to his distant Bay Meadows placing; handled Delaware Township in Spa rebound but appeared to benefit from a track playing kindly to inside speed that day and must confront Caller One as well as other high-octane speeds; fresh speedster figures to be a pace casualty.

individual fresh and firing during his 9-race career; has already vanquished Sprint entrants Swept Overboard and Peeping Tom and been defeated by only one horse since his Del Mar debut learning experience; note it took a 115 Beyer run by 2000 Kentucky Derby hero Fusaichi Pegasus to deny him victory (while handling G1 winner Albert The Great); even his trainer expresses concern about his ability to be at his best at 6 furlongs although he projects for a good trip over a strip he has handled; son of '95 Sprint runnerup Mr. Greeley is certainly capable.

3-year-old is widely acknowledged as Europe's best sprinter and both '91 victor Sheikh Albadou and unlucky '90 runnerup Dayjur show overseas shippers can succeed while making their initial dirt starts in this event; colt's front-running style appears a severe obstacle as several quality speedsters are in the field; leaving 17 foes in his wake in the July Cup was a top performance and he followed it up with a .57 1/5 Group 1 win; combination of a taxing pace scenario over an unfamiliar surface and usual shipping concerns likely conspire to place a win out of reach in American debut.

Kona Gold used a score in the Ancient Title as a springboard to success in last year's edition and this gray hopes to do the same after defeating the champ in that Santa Anita event; the possibility of a bounce looms after that huge, best last-out Beyer performance although runner has been ultra-consistent (in the money in all 13 outings); an 11-lb. weight shift in Kona Gold's favor could be a factor but this colt is capable of rating off swift fractions and has never been better; not impossible in his New York unveiling.

Claimer turned Grade 1 winner caused a commotion earlier this year while reeling off 3 consecutive stakes triumphs after being gelded and treated with Lasix; stretch-runner's subpar Tom Fool effort sent him to the sidelines and he appeared to be compromised by a soft pace in his recent return (.23 and .46 is soft by Grade 2 sprint standards); interim bullet is a positive although he has yet to prove he can succeed at 6 furlongs against G1 company; needs improvement and a blazing pace to enter the fray late.

A CLOSER LOOK FILLY & MARE TURF

Spook Express

Has had a slew of eventful runs in what has still been a light but productive career and those factors coupled with trainer Skiffington's belief that jockey Mike Smith has the answers to cope with this mare's many kinks and quirks indicate improvement can still be on the way; $200K supplement to this race enters off a lifetime top 'fig,' and returns with less rest than usual causing concern; rail draw in full field, so it won't be easy, but then again it wasn't last time (footnotes: 'outrun early, eased out, 7-wide approaching stretch, soundly shaken up with left-handed whip in stretch and under hand-urging late'; barn and jockey now have plenty of confidence in this mare, do you?)

England's Legend

Exits the Grade I Flower Bowl, which featured a small, but select group and can be recognized as the strongest prep for this assignment; with Tranquility Lake's people opting to try her fleet feet in the Distaff, this filly may have only Mot Juste to deal with early and that shouldn't be much of a concern; $90K supplement drew well and should make her presence felt from the bell of the starting gate to the snap of the photo finish camera.

Mot Juste

Missed Lailani (winner of 7 straight and likely betting favorite here) by just a neck in the prestigious Irish Oaks in July, but she has dropped 5 straight since winning her first 2 starts; mid-week arrival has had little time to prepare for her first U.S. start; may be forced into unenviable position of giving chase early in an effort to keep likely pacemaker England's Legend honest, and if that rival is willing that's a monumental task.

Leaves it all on the track today, as this is likely to be her last race prior to being sent to the breeding shed for a date with Lemon Drop Kid next year; owner Vance campaigned said 'Kid, but that's not likely to help this mare run the race of her life - which she'll need even to contend; latest was her first experience at this distance, and her flat try wasn't encouraging, but it can prove useful; does enter this in improving fashion, and is in the care of a top trainer who has managed graded stakes placement with a mare who has had her career hampered by a pair of condylar fractures to her left hind pastern.

Will try a distance beyond a mile for the first time in her career, but trainer Fabre has said that this filly's style suggests she'll stay 10 furlongs; jockey Peslier felt following the Group 1 win at Ascot that she was 'Europe's best miler,' making this a very interesting choice of spots; note, said Group 1 win did come over a testing uphill course, so credit her with some stamina points; best races came when campaigned steadily, so the added ground off a break of nearly 2 months may prove too much an obstacle; full-brother Dansili was 3rd in last year's BC Mile.

Volga

Lines up as trainer Clement's 'other' entrant, with England's Legend one of the primary contenders here, and her barn makes no bones about being an 'outsider' here and basically hoping for an improved effort from a lightly-raced 3-year-old filly; initial and lone experience outside of France should help matters, but this looms a tall order in her 2nd outing since early July; E.P. Taylor company lines do little to build a case, as 31-1 race winner Choc Ice was a European invader who had previously gone 2-for-16 on foreign soil, and Spring Oak was only 2-for-5 overseas prior to her 3rd-place trip in Canada.

Kalyso Katie

Shows an encouraging, busy Belmont workout tab in preparation for her first start since late-June; Stevens and Drysdale, trainer of '00 Mile winner War Chant and '89 Turf winner Prized, always a dangerous team; handled lesser in European wins, and her only U.S. tally at the expense of Eurolink Raindance (winless in her next 5, and now just 2-for-18) does little to inspire confidence.

Solvig

Must improve drastically to even contend; winless this year, she has never even hit triple digits on the 'Beyer' scale; Pat Day has won 11 Breeders' Cup races for those desperate to build a case.

Crystal Music

Failed terribly in her first bid beyond one mile, and as the favorite to add to the disappointment; her job doesn't get much easier today versus this cast; trainer won inaugural BC Mile with Royal Heroine in 1984; ignore latest, and her overall slate is respectable, but she's yet to prove her mettle versus her elders.

Starine

Goes for trainer Bobby Frankel, who has gone zero-for-36 in prior 'Cups, but we're sure that's just a quirky stat (remember, these events aren't exactly easy) that doesn't deserve to be hyped when dealing with a Hall of Fame trainer in the midst of a career season; Frankel sent out Honest Lady (2nd in last year's Sprint at 31-1) and Spanish Fern (pulled up in this event last year) on Breeders' Cup Day last year; supplemented for $90K, this filly handled Queue (1st or 2nd in each of her next 3 stakes engagements) on Aug. 5; Janet was 6th in her Diana, and returned to win the Grade 1 Yellow Ribbon in her next start (104' fig, and now 7-for-18 lifetime with over $815K banked).

Spring Oak

Appears to have been below top-class in France, but note her lightly-raced profile and fact that she could be primed for her best yet as she'll be stringing 3 races together without break for the first time today; having shipped here mid-week, she's had little time to adjust to climate and life in the U.S.; no real speed to speak of, and that figures to create a major tactical problem in a field of this size from this post; expanded Taylor footnote ('raced inside, entered stretch along rail and was blocked briefly before moving three-wide into the drive') suggests she had every chance in a soft heat (allowance males completed the same distance just 1/5 of a second slower later on the card, and off a much swifter pace).

Breaks outside all, but Bailey is aboard, negating any major worries; certainly has enough natural speed to attain striking position under normal circumstances, but it's worth noting that her recent workouts have reportedly been lackluster (being dull early could hurt here); Bailey has won the only 2 runnings of this event (inaugural '99 event with Soaring Softly, $9,200; and last year with Perfect Sting, $12); huge effort to run down a loose and streaking foe in her U.S. debut; Flower Bowl runners figure strong, as they did in '99 when the one-two 'Bowl punch of Soaring Softly and Coretta turned in a Breeders' Cup encore.

A CLOSER LOOK

Juvenile

Siphonic

Speedy and draws inside, just as he was in the Lanes End; of course, any front-running score at Keeneland has to be viewed suspiciously, as the main track routinely favors speed horses on the inside; strategy here is no surprise, especially considering the inside post...he's going for the lead; trainer David Hofmans was less than thrilled with the rail draw but he does get a break with Came Home, his likely main foe for the lead, drawing post 11; hard to say how good he is, as he seems to still be on the improver, and if he can shake loose here he could prove tough to reign in; McCarron chose to ride Came Home but Bailey's not a bad 2nd choice, huh?; very dangerous speedster has a legitimate chance to pull it off given the right kind of trip.

Officer

He's the heaviest favorite on the entire card and they're gunning for him, and that includes not only the other 11 in here but also the Pick 3 and 4 bettors seeking value; trainer Bob Baffert isn't enthused about the post position draw here but if this colt runs his race it should be irrelevant; Came Home owns the best last-out figure in the race but Beyer Beware; this colt was absolutely under wraps for no less than the last 3/16ths of a mile in the Champagne and couldn't run an astronomical number had Espinoza allowed him to do so; he won with complete authority at this track and distance, no less, after beating short fields full of equally overmatched rivals in California; his 2 recent works were fantastic, suggesting the best is yet to come.

Johannesburg

The best 2-year-old in Europe is an interesting challenger to Officer; obvious question is his ability to handle dirt and distance, but the fact that he's by Hennessy, a multiple stakes winner on the dirt who was 2nd in this race, suggests he should make the transition; also worth noting that his dam, Myth, is related to Tale Of The Cat, who won the King's Bishop Stakes as well as 3 other races on the main track; he has some tactical speed and figures to work out a trip from his inside post, and he's liable to improve with Lasix added; figures to take some money but he's worth using in multi-race exotics, because if he's good enough to beat Officer you've beaten the majority of the money in the Pick 3 pool; certainly playable.

Essence Of Dubai

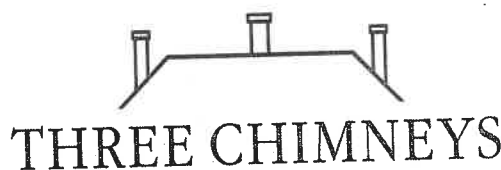

Dam won the BC Juvenile Fillies in 1987; this colt scored in the Norfolk last time over stablemate Ibn Al Haiitham but did enjoy an absolutely perfect trip, sitting behind the pacesetters and coming through a huge opening along the rail in the lane; his Beyers are lacking compared to the best of this bunch and he was well behind Officer in the Best Pal at a shorter distance; an argument can be made that he's best at a longer distance, and that effort can be forgiven, but the fact is that he'd have to improve in order to get a big part of this.

Jump Start
Finished behind Came Home in the Hopeful, then chased Office home in the Champagne; don't be fooled by the margin of victory...it wasn't that close; still, his Beyers are on the improve, and he's worked smartly since the Champagne; will have a tough time turning the tables on Officer, though, and there are some fresh challengers in here; tough to use on top, though some exotics players may punch the exacta with Officer on top on the theory that the Champagne was the strongest prep.

Publication
1st foal out of the dam Cat News; scored in the Arlington Washington Futurity last time, though he regressed some in the Beyer Department; backers might say he was game to win that one, pressing the pace and holding off a late run by It'sallinthechase; critics would argue he enjoyed a perfect trip to win his debut and he was on top of a slow, controlled pace in his latest; they also might contend that It'sallinthechase nearly beat him there, and that one is likely the rank outsider in this field; this is asking a lot of a colt making his 3rd career start; he has his work cut out for him.

French Assault
Unable to hold off Repent in the Kentucky Cup Juvenile last time after making a run at the lead; he was an easy winner at Retama in his prior start but he beat a suspect group there, and his Beyers need a boost if he's going to compete with the likes of these; recent works are good but though he's in top shape he doesn't seem to be good enough to beat horses of this caliber at this stage of the game.

Ibn Al Haitham
Maiden raced wide throughout in the Norfolk and was unable to get to stablemate Essence Of Dubai, who enjoyed clear sailing along the inside, but he ran very well in his own right, especially considering the circumstances; the good news is that race resulted in his best Beyer to date...the bad news is that the figure is well below what he'd need to put up here to get a part; breaking his maiden in the Juvenile would be quite a story, but that's obviously unlikely; in fact, if he were to get a minor check here it would be considered a solid showing.

Saarland

His dam, Versailles Treaty was a multiple Grade 1 winner and millionaire; Saarlund was off very slowly in the Champagne and never was able to get in the game, really; closed some ground late but Officer was geared down and he really wasn't making up much ground on Jump Start; obviously eligible to improve with a clean start, and with Lasix added, and those sharp recent works are very encouraging; he's moved forward in every start on the Beyer scale and though he'd need to step it up in order to threaten here he does have license to improve further; intriguing longshot.

Repent

Sat a perfect trip off a pretty quick pace and scored in the Kentucky Cup Juvenile with a strong late run; he turned in a pair of bullets in recently in preparation for this and he'd certainly benefit should a fast, contested pace develop here; like most of the rest of these though, the question is whether he can improve enough to beat a horse the caliber of Officer; given the fact that he's taking a major step up in class, and would need to move up 10 points on the Beyer scale, it seems like a lot to ask, but if the pace is destructive he may wind up picking up a few stragglers and a minor award.

McCarron was forced to choose between this one and Siphonic, and turns up here; there's been some concern about this colt ever since he was scratched from the September 29 Norfolk Stakes at Santa Anita with filling in his right ankle; he's worked well of late, satisfying both McCarron and trainer Paco Gonzalez that all is well; Gonzalez was pleased with the outside draw and would like the son of Gone West to stalk the pace from the outside; early speed comes in handy here, as the race lacks a clear-cut pace scenario; he's viewed as the main foe to odds-on favorite Officer, but he's not particularly bred to go long (he's a half to A. P. Assay, a stakes-winning sprinter), and his recent physical problems and relatively short price temper the enthusiasm some; certainly a factor but not convinced he's going to be able to rate effectively going longer; may be worth trying others in the exotics and leaving out the 2nd choice in the betting.

It's all in the chase

Finished a neck behind Publication last time after a strong late run in the Arlington Washington Futurity; draws widest of the 12 entered here and his Beyers are very light compared to the contenders; would be one of the main beneficiaries should the pace collapse but it's hard to make a strong case that he's good enough to beat a field of this caliber; after all, he's won only once, against Remington maidens at 5 1/2 furlongs; toss with confidence.

Slew The Red

Didn't make an impact in his G1 debut at Woodbine, but it's possible he wasn't ready to line straight off the plane after only 2 weeks off; must answer some class questions as he wasn't facing the top-level turf horses Europe has to offer; vanquished Mocham Glen 3 starts back, but that rival returned to finish 5th in the Group 3 La Coupe de Maisons-Laffite behind the classy Jim And Tonic; couldn't get to Hightori and Idaho Quest in the Prix Foy, and that pair flopped badly when 7th and 14th respectively in the Arc; might be more effective at 10 furlongs than at this trip, and looks to be a cut below the best; not convinced he's ready to take his game to the next level.

Timboroa

This British-bred son of Salse is extremely versatile, and his tactical gear should come in very handy today; took the measure of Grade 1 winner Super Quercus in the Del Mar Cap (that foe returned to win the Grade 3 Bay Meadows Breeders' Cup Handicap with a 102 Beyer), and followed that up with a resounding gate-to-wire score in the Turf Classic, helped by a slow pace, and wet turf conditions last time; but he's in razor-sharp form, and has found his niche in these 10-12 furlong turf races; it doesn't hurt to have red-hot Bobby Frankel calling the shots, either; guessing that Prado will settle for a nice trip tracking With Anticipation from the get-go, and he should be prominent when they turn for home; don't count out this 10-time winner.

Point Given

Annihilated his opponents by more than 12 lengths in the Belmont S.-G1, fourth fastest time in history.

Quiet Resolve

It's tough to successfully stretch out from a mile to 12 furlongs, but this Canadian-bred almost pulled off the feat in last year's Turf; multi-millionaire repeats the same race pattern (Keeneland Turf Mile to BC Turf) as last year, but it can be argued he's not as sharp as he was in 2000; connections know how to win this race (Sam-Son owned, Frostad-trained Chief Bearhart won the 1997 Turf at Hollywood Park), and 'Resolve' has enough speed to sit just off With Anticipation with possible 1st run going into the far turn; the distance may be his greatest nemesis as he's been unable to gain late ground in all of his 12 furlong races; fits best on bottom of exotic wagers.

Mutamam

Almost pulled off a 37-1 shocker in last year's Turf, and overcame a tough outside post when beating 3 of these in the Canadian International; he's a true 12 furlong horse, and his good speed should have him close to the expected moderate pace; wonder if he's susceptible to a bounce after his successful Canadian endeavor as many European horses regress in their 2nd start off the plane (note Fantastic Light's 4th place effort in the 2000 Turf Classic); Fantastic Light handled this 6yo rather easily in the King George, but Mutamam might have come back too quickly from his Princess Of Wales Victory; mixed feelings.

Hap
 Would have been well-received in the Mile considering the recent Keeneland victory, but the astute Billy Mott feels he'll be suited by this longer distance; the pedigree gives out mixed signals as to whether he'll handle 12 furlongs; sire Theatrical won this race back in 1987, but dam Committed excelled at sprint distances; the feeling here is that Hap would be at his best in the 9-10 furlong range, classy chestnut's lone blemish this year came over a bog-like Arlington course, and he still defeated 10 horses to the wire; Mott and Bailey make a very potent combination, and their steed loves to win; possible distance limitations make him hard to love at an underfired mutuel; demand value.

Milan
 This underrated stayer closed well in the Arc, and the addition of Lasix could be just what the doctor ordered; the outside post is annoying, but Northern Spur overcame the 12 hole to win the 1995 Turf at Belmont so the task is not impossible; lightly-raced sophomore still may be improving, and he hails from world-class connections; owns tremendous stamina, and it's even possible that 12 furlongs might be too short for him; didn't think he beat too much in his 2 wins this year (Storming Home returned from the 8/21 heat to run last of 7 in the Group 2 Prix Niel while St. Leger 4th When In Rome came back to finish 6th in the G2 Deutsche St. Leger in Germany); gave the wonderful Galileo a battle in his seasonal debut so the ability is certainly there; interesting.

D. Wayne's recent BC wins have all come at big odds - this would be another one; however, those big odds wins with Spain, Cash Run, Cat Thief came with horses already proven at the upper level - the same can't yet be said here; sure, he looked good winning the Indiana Derby and D. Wayne has a point that when Albert the Great didn't fire at all in the JC Gold Cup that the Indy Derby wasn't that far below the Gold Cup in terms of quality top to bottom; however, he's unproven at this level and unproven going this far, and with speed as his main weapon what's he to do when Albert the Great, Tiznow and Gander are at his throat? It just seems like too much at this stage of the game.

Black Minnaloushe

Why does the supposed Euro super horse Galileo need a back-up? on the other hand, this guy is bred for dirt being by Storm Cat (same sire as last year's BC Classic 2nd for these connections, Giant's Causeway); got some quality of his own - you don't win 2 G1s in Europe without it, beating likely Euro's best sprinter Mozart and Euro's best miler Noverre in those 2 races; only 10f try wasn't bad, wasn't great either; bred for it or not, dirt's a new hurdle, the distance is up for grabs and since he's not as well regarded as the other 2 Euros how's he to overcome all that? dicey.

Had a super spring, then found Albert the Great too much to handle in Albert's backyard; an injury knocked him out of action for a while but he came back with a big try to toughies Gander and Broken Vow in the Meadowlands Cup; it shows he's back - most of the way at least; but even when in peak form in the spring beating the likes of Nite Dreamer, Waited and Sir Bear doesn't mean you're ready for the 2 Euros, Tiznow and Aptitude; the good news is his last 2 2nd-off-a-lay-off races were tremendous, but wouldn't you feel a whole lot better if Bailey had opted to stay here, instead of sticking with Aptitude? mixed feelings.

Just Fantastic Light's head keeps this guy from being perfect and coming here acclaimed as one of the best Euro has seen in eons; he's still super, and if you saw the Irish Champion you saw a horse run his guts out but come up a smidge short; there are some issues, however - after a dirt work in England bookmakers there upped his odds; O'Brien said months ago this was his target - does that mean he pretty much has to stick to his guns and go here regardless of whether the horse really handled the dirt? and what if they came over, ran on turf and lost? wouldn't his reputation and attraction at stud, where he's off to after this, go down dramatically, a la Dancing Brave? there's really little risk to go here - if he doesn't handle dirt, that's OK, nothing lost; but if he handles it his talent can certainly beat all these, and then you have potentially the most attractive stallion prospect to come down the pike in decades; O'Brien talked him up huge this spring/summer as a horse who could handle anything - if he's right and horse handles dirt then the others are in deep water, but he still has very little margin for error; compelling.

Connections opted to send the Arc winner here because they felt he was more effective going 10fs; there's no doubting his brilliance - you don't win the Arc by 6 or the Juddmonte International by 7 without it; but the surface is a whole new ball-game and unlike Galileo, who comes here fresh, having been pointed for this all along, this guy comes back-off just 20 days, a huge race and shipping halfway around the world; still, the Godolphin guys are no dummies - if they thought they would have a better chance to win the Turf with this guy and the Classic with Fantastic Light then that's where they would have entered them; maybe by going here they're really telling you how good this guy is doing and like Galileo wouldn't his stud stock and reputation go through the roof should he do the undoable - an Arc/BO Classic double? downright scary.

Last year's 2yo champ was unable to make a run at the Triple Crown races due to some ailments, and even when he came back while he didn't run badly it's not like he set the world on its ear; blinkers seem to have him a bit more focused at least - his stretch wanderings and games were awfully worrisome; but aside from his 2yo form he's yet to beat a top-class horse, and it's disconcerting the way he got outfinished in the Ohio Derby; at least the horse who beat him, Western Pride, came back to win the Calder Derby but this can't be the way Orseno had it mapped out to get here; a big price for those who still believe.

Gotta love this veteran; hey, they could have gone in last week's Empire Classic, been 3-5 and probably won, but he just beat a couple darn nice horses in Broken Vow and Include in the Meadowlands Cup, so he deserves this shot; reportedly working in great fashion, likes it here and has the speed to be in it from the bell; does that mean he can win this? probably not - effort is great, but at this level you have to have the raw ability to carry it through, and his previous forays into the 'big-time, while solid, still have seen him find 1 or 2 or more just too much to handle; but heck, a slice of that $4 million pie isn't a bad day's work; exotics chance.

Albert the Great

Just a month and a half ago he was everyone's favorite for this race; now you're probably going to get 10-1 or so; what happened? In spite of Nick's planning, it seems this guy has simply picked the wrong time to hit the down side of his form cycle; he's had an active year, sure, but it hasn't been an overly busy one, and it hasn't been interrupted by injury or anything; the most disconcerting part isn't that he got beat by Aptitude but that he completely fell apart when the real racing began - that's not Albert; even when beaten he's continued on; came back with a pretty sluggish work and it doesn't really have Nick sounding like the upbeat Nick we're used to hearing before one of Albert's races; still, his best stuff has come here, he's bounced back before and maybe getting off friend Chavez back in the saddle will help - but even if he came here at his peak he was going to have a tough time of it, shaky.

Tiznow

It just doesn't look quite so polished this year; last year he came into this as the cat's meow, and he validated it with a tremendous Classic win; looked the part early this year, but since a back ailment and other nagging problems he hasn't looked quite the same; now a horse once thoroughly professional is out there acting like Dennis Rodman, to boot; physically he looks OK - heck, you don't work a mile in 1:35 and change without feeling good, but his Woodward and Goodwood efforts, while understandable considering the layoff and all, didn't have his old spark; you don't win a race like this without your 'A' game and if he's a half-step slower than he was at this time last year, how's he to handle 2 Euros who may be even better than Giant's Causeway, and a hot-to-the-touch Aptitude who now looks a lot like Tiznow looked at this time last year? certainly has far too much talent, heart and class to say he can't do it again, but it just doesn't grab you by the throat like it did last year, does it?

A Fleets Dancer

They're giving away $4 million bucks at the end of this thing so you can't really blame these guys for taking a shot; at least he's a stayer, he's fit, and in pretty good form off that big Durhan Cup win; but let's face it - he's been competitive only at levels considerably lower than this; this is the top of the mountain, where the wind blows the hardest, and he's yet to run a race in his life that would be good enough to win this (highest Beyer 111; avg. winning Beyer for the Classic is 117); longshot.

Aptitude

Give Bobby credit - he stuck to his guns with this guy; Bobby said this guy was going to be a big shot; well, the journey took a bit longer, but he's arrived - he's the likely favorite in the BC Classic, coming off a monstrous JC Gold Cup win where he earned a 123 Beyer; but there are concerns: sure, blinkers have him much more focused, but when he was DQ'd into the Hollywood Gold Cup he was simply in the right place at the right time - he wasn't best and he wasn't the one interfered with; stormed home to win the Saratoga BC Handicap and JC Gold Cup, but there are a lot of horses in here who can beat Perfect Cat by 4+ or more lengths as this guy did in the Saratoga BC, and when Albert the Great fell apart in the Gold Cup there wasn't another G1 horse left in that line-up; Tiznow and some others can overwhelm G3 types Generous Rosi and Country Be Gold, too; at least he ran fast in those 2 races, but such performances came under optimum circumstances; he may not get that here, starting with an outside post, a potential wide trip, and foes the like he's yet to beat; that being said, we could be seeing a boy turn into a man, as he could be to this year what Tiznow was to last year; imposing.

Freedom Crest

Looked ready to challenge Tiznow and co. in the winter but got hurt; when he came back he looked OK, but not as sharp; then out of nowhere he jumps up and beats the big boys in the Goodwood; remember, though, Skimming is unbeatable at Del Mar, but just a nice horse elsewhere, and Tiznow never really looked dangerous at any point; give this guy credit - he did what he needed to do for a trainer making a name for himself out West; does that mean he's ready for this assignment? well, that may be asking too much; even when in peak form last winter he wasn't running fast enough to beat many of these; also being asked to ship for the first time, try 10fs for the first time, while being handed a post that ensures him of losing ground for the first furlong or so, against some beasts, outsider.
