CLOSER LOOK Beginning with her Gulfstream Oaks, she's been the dominant two-turn filly of the division (her only loss during that span came when a bang-up second against males in the Blue Grass while finishing ahead of several Derby entrants); pressed the pace three-wide early in the Blue Grass, advanced to set a pressured pace along the rail and was second best to talented next-out 100-Beyer winner Art Collector; tracked three-wide on the first turn of the Alabama, advanced to press the pace outside, took over at will outside the five-sixteenths and cruised; expect Gaffalione to play off of Gamine leaving the gate; if that one is sent, he can try to get off the rail to push outside; if not, Swiss Skydiver might try to take them all the way; logical contender.

CLOSER LOOK Although still eligible for a non-winners of two event, this filly graduated going two turns at Churchill Downs and has a puncher's chance from the back of the pack given a hot pace up front; after being competitive in a series of graded stakes at Fair Grounds over the winter, she disappointed in her allowance race on May 29 when finishing behind next-out Ashland third-finisher Envoutante (90 Beyer); think the connections were using the Ellis race as merely a bridge to this; tracked the pace three-wide, had a look at it in midstretch and flattened out late; big step back up in class; upgrade if wet; not convinced.

CLOSER LOOK Before the emergence of Swiss Skydiver and Gamine, Donna Veloce was the leading light of this division; very game to just miss in both the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies and Starlet last year considering her inexperience, then was much too much for Speech in the Santa Ysabel; stumbled leaving the inside stall, saved ground behind the leaders, eased three wide on the second turn and drew off in the lane; suffered a setback in April that sent her back to the farm for a month and will try to navigate this demanding race against tough competition off a six-month layoff; trainer Callaghan has won graded races with American Gal (211 days off), Hostess (175 days) and True Valour (238 days); talented and bred to handle the distance; exotics threat.

CLOSER LOOK Although she's finished behind Donna Veloce, Gamine and Swiss Skydiver, believe this filly has plenty of upside and she showed determination when running down speedy Venetian Harbor in the short stretch of the Ashland; awarded first at Oaklawn due to Gamine's medication violation, but couldn't get past that one in the stretch; thought she had a good trip tracking the pace at Santa Anita, but was merely second-best to Swiss Skydiver over a speed-friendly strip that might have slightly aided the favorite; tracked Venetian Harbor outside, went after that one in earnest inside the quarter pole and was getting away late to earn a career-best Beyer; expecting her to sit off Swiss Skydiver and Gamine and will take her shot on the second turn; don't ignore.

CLOSER LOOK Brilliantly-fast filly finished first in all four starts (disqualified from Oaklawn victory due to a lidocaine violation), but really exploded onto the scene with dominant performances in both the Acorn and Test; bobbled just a bit at the start of the former, cleared off to set an uncontested pace through very manageable fractions, then put on a show to win with a 110 Beyer; set reasonable splits in the Test, albeit while being pushed by Venetian Harbor, then sprinted home in ridden-out fashion in a race with no closing going on behind her; might have to go a lot faster early while stretching out to nine furlongs for the first time in the Oaks; talent and exceptional Beyers can't be denied; distance a question mark, but an obvious danger.

CLOSER LOOK She beat Swiss Skydiver over this track last year, but hasn't appeared to move forward in three races in 2020; to be fair, she faced then-sharp Tonalist's Shape in first start off the layoff, then was in against crack sprinter Four Graces when turning back to seven panels in the Edgewood; raced in midpack behind a hot pace in the Indiana Oaks, split horses at the five-sixteenths under a drive and tried hard to get third when almost seven lengths behind Shedaresthedevil; perhaps set for best in third start of the form cycle, but Beyers pale in comparison to those of the top contenders; leaning elsewhere.

CLOSER LOOK Sleeper candidate is in career form for a high-percentage trainer with three victories from her last four starts; she's undefeated at Churchill Downs and her versatile running style should serve her well in this spot; rallied from midpack to win the Honeybee at Oaklawn, then was quick enough to go gate-to-wire here two back; looked good beating a weak field in the Indiana Oaks as she tracked a lone front-runner through fast fractions, crept closer leaving the backstretch, took over at will and drew off very late; another with light Beyers, however, and was well-beaten by Swiss Skydiver in the Fantasy three back; minor award might be her ceiling.

CLOSER LOOK Rebounded from a disappointing Delaware Oaks with a solid four-length victory at Monmouth; prompted a three-ply pace along the inside, angled three wide turning for home and was best despite being late to switch leads in the lane; lightly-raced with room for further improvement; she's out of a half-sister to distance-loving turf mare Wonder Again so the nine furlongs shouldn't be too much of an issue; expect her to tuck in midpack, hope for a hot pace and attempt to rally with a late bid; big hike up the class ladder; prefer others.

CLOSER LOOK Once offered for a $25,000 claiming tag, her connections have done a very nice job turning her into a multiple graded-placed performer; couldn't get to Swiss Skydiver in the Gulfstream Oaks, but there wasn't much pace on in that race and Dream Marie was up against it attempting to rally from the back of the pack; finished ahead of Hopeful Growth at Delaware, but that one turned the tables in the Monmouth Oaks; followed Hopeful Growth while saving ground for most of the way, came up the rail turning for home, eased out to split horses and lacked a strong finish; she often has to be ridden hard to keep up with over two furlongs to race; must show more.
