Naming a Thoroughbred

Naming a thoroughbred is not the simple process it might seem. Names submitted by owners must conform to the rules and regulations set forth by The Jockey Club and must be approved by its Stewards.

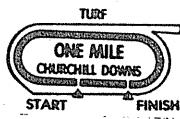

Names that have been used during the previous 10 years, either in the stud or in racing, cannot be duplicated and names cannot be claimed for unregistered horses.

Names which bear any suggestive, vulgar or obscene meaning are prohibited. Identical prefixes or suffixes may not be used by any owner in naming horses bred or owned by him.

Copyrighted names (titles of books, songs, movies, etc.) may be used five years after those names were first introduced. Names of living persons are allowed only if permission is filed with The Jockey Club, individually, by the persons whose names are to be used.
